Word And Concept In Thucydides

June W. Allison

Word And Concept In Thucydides:

Word and Concept in Thucydides June W. Allison, 1997 Applying perspectives of modern philosophers of language to the Greek historian examines the language of abstraction he used with a view to defining how concepts developed and were understood among his contemporaries of the 5th century BC Concludes that far from merely borrowing presocratic thought and sophistic rhetoric he moved discussions of language to a new level that recognized concepts and metalinguistic terminology and suggests that the concept of a concept may be much older than we have previously thought Translations are provided for the passages quoted but some knowledge of ancient Greek would be helpful to follow the argument Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Year 1 Susan Buck-Morss, 2021-04-13 Reclaiming the first century as common ground rather than the origin of deeply entrenched differences liberating the past to speak to us in another way Conventional readings of antiquity cast Athens against Jerusalem with Athens standing in for reason and Jerusalem for faith And yet Susan Buck Morss reminds us recent scholarship has overturned this separation Naming the first century as a zero point year one that divides time into before and after is equally arbitrary nothing more than a convenience that is empirically meaningless In YEAR 1 Buck Morss liberates the first century so it can speak to us in another way reclaiming it as common ground rather than the origin of deeply entrenched differences Buck Morss aims to topple various conceptual givens that have shaped modernity as an episteme and led us into some unhelpful postmodern impasses She approaches the first century through the writings of three thinkers often marginalized in current discourse Flavius Josephus historian of the Judaeen war the neo Platonic philosopher Philo of Alexandria and John of Patmos author of Revelation the last book of the Christian Bible Also making appearances are Antigone and John Coltrane Plato and Bulwer Lytton al Farabi and Jean Anouilh Nicholas of Cusa and Zora Neale Hurston not to mention Descartes Kant Hegel Kristeva and Derrida Buck Morss shows that we need no longer partition history as if it were a homeless child in need of the protective wisdom of Solomon Those inhabiting the first century belong together in time and therefore not to us Power and Structure in Thucydides: an Analytical Commentary: The second year-the sixth year Haruo Konishi, 2008 The Transformation of Foreign Policy Gunther Hellmann, Andreas Fahrmeir, Miloš Vec, 2016-07-08 The study of foreign policy is usually concerned with the interaction of states and thus with governance structures which emerged either with the so called Westphalian system or in the course of the 18th century diplomacy and international law As a result examining foreign policy in earlier periods involves conceptual and terminological difficulties which echo current debates on post national foreign policy actors like the European Union or global cities This volume argues that a novel understanding of what constitutes foreign policy may offer a way out of this problem It considers foreign policy as the outcome of processes that make some boundaries different from others and set those that separate communities in an internal space apart from those that mark foreignness The creation of such boundaries which can be observed at all times designates specific actors which can be but do not have to be states as capable of engaging in foreign policy As such boundaries are likely to be contested they are unlikely to provide either a single or a simple distinction between insides and outsides In this view multiple layers of foreign policy actors with different characteristics appear less as a modern development and more as a perennial aspect of foreign policy In a broad perspective stretching from early Greek polities to present day global cities the volume offers a theoretical and empirical presentation of this concept by political scientists jurists and historians
