The Hungry Ocean Linda Greenlaw,2001-08-01 The term fisherwoman does not exactly roll trippingly off the tongue and Linda Greenlaw the world s only female swordfish boat captain isn t flattered when people insist on calling her one I am a woman I am a fisherman I am not a fisherwoman fisherlady or fishergirl If anything else I am a thirty seven year old tomboy It s a word I have never outgrown Greenlaw also happens to be one of the most successful fishermen in the Grand Banks commercial fleet though until the publication of Sebastian Junger s The Perfect Storm nobody cared Greenlaw s boat the Hannah Boden was the sister ship to the doomed Andrea Gail which disappeared in the mother of all storms in 1991 and became the focus of Junger s book The Hungry Ocean Greenlaw s account of a monthlong swordfishing trip over 1 000 nautical miles out to sea tells the story of what happens when things go right proving in the process that every successful voyage is a study in narrowly averted disaster There is the weather the constant danger of mechanical failure the perils of controlling five sleep women and booze deprived young fishermen in close quarters not to mention the threat of a bad fishing run If we don t catch fish we don t get paid period In short there is no labor union Greenlaw s straightforward uncluttered prose underscores the qualities that make her a good captain regardless of gender fairness physical and mental endurance obsessive attention to detail But ultimately Greenlaw proves that the love of fishing in all of its grueling isolating suspenseful glory is a matter of the heart and blood not the mind I knew that the ocean had stories to tell me all I needed to do was listen Svenja Soldovieri

But Will the Planet Notice? Gernot Wagner,2011-09-27 You are one of seven billion people on Earth Whatever you or I do personally eat tofu in a Hummer or hamburgers in a Prius the planet doesn t notice In our confrontation with climate change species preservation and a planet going off the cliff it is what several billion people do that makes a difference The solution It isn t science politics or activism It s smarter economics The hope of mankind and indeed of every living thing on the planet is now in the hands of the dismal science Fortunately we ve been there before Economists helped crack the acid rain problem in the 1990 s admittedly with a strong assist from a phalanx of lawyers and activists Economists have helped get lead out of our gas and they can explain why lobsters haven't disappeared off the coast of New England but tuna is on the verge of extinction. More disquietingly they can take the lessons of the financial crisis and model with greater accuracy than anyone else the likelihood of environmental catastrophe and they can help save us from global warming if only we let them.

Shiver Hitch Linda Greenlaw, 2000-01-01 The Chase Chronicle, 1925 The Cure for Anything Is Salt Water Mary South, 2009-01-29. A fed-up publisher heads via trawler from Florida to Maine. It's fun going along for the ride. People At forty Mary South had a beautiful home, good friends, and a successful career in book publishing. But she couldn't help feeling that she was missing something intangible but essential. So she decided to go looking for it at sea. Six months later she had quit her job, sold the house, and was living aboard a forty-foot, thirty-ton steel trawler she rechristened Bossanova. Despite her total lack of experience, South set out on her maiden voyage, a fifteen-hundred-mile odyssey from Florida to Maine with her one-man, two-dog crew. But what began as the fulfillment of an idle wish became a crash course in navigating the complicated byways of the self. Even if your idea of the open waters is a swim-up bar at the Ritz-Carlton, South's uncluttered style and hopeful prose is charming enough to make you happy to simply float peacefully along in its wake. Salon.com. Engaging and lovable. Find a nice high chair and stand on it, applauding the existence of a writer and person like Mary South. George Saunders. 1. New York Times bestselling author Mary South's gutsy decision to follow her heart is truly inspiring. I admire her courageous spirit and the fortitude she exhibits in pursuing her own happiness. Linda Greenlaw. New York Times bestselling author. This small but well-observed memoir is a worthwhile read for anyone stuck in the workaday rut. Publishers Weekly.
