Deafness, Gesture and Sign Language in the 18th Century French Philosophy Josef Fulka, 2020-04-15 The book represents a historical overview of the way the topic of gesture and sign language has been treated in the 18th century French philosophy The texts treated are grouped into several categories based on the view they present of deafness and gesture While some of those texts obviously view deafness and sign language in negative terms i e as deficiency others present deafness essentially as difference i e as a set of competences that might provide some insights into how spoken language works One of the arguments of the book is that these two views of deafness and sign language still represent two dominant paradigms present in the current debates on the issue The aim of the book therefore is not only to provide a historical overview but to trace what might be called a history of the present

The Child Savage, 1890-2010 Elisabeth Wesseling, 2016-12-05 Taking up the understudied relationship between the cultural history of childhood and media studies this volume traces twentieth century migrations of the child savage analogy from colonial into postcolonial discourse across a wide range of old and new media Older and newer media such as films textbooks children s literature periodicals comic strips children s radio and toys are deeply implicated in each other through ongoing remediation meaning that they continually mimic absorb and transform each other s representational formats stylistic features and content Media theory thus confronts the cultural history of childhood with the challenge of re thinking change in childhood imaginaries as transformation through repetition patterns rather than as rise shine decline sequences This volume takes up this challenge demonstrating that one historical epoch may well accommodate diverging childhood repertoires which are recycled again and again as they are played out across a whole gamut of different media formats in the course of time
