Structuralism In Literature:

Structuralism in Literature Robert Scholes, Robert E. Scholes, 1974-01-01 The nature and leading exponents of the structuralist movement are considered as well as the structural poetics of fiction and drama Structuralist Poetics Jonathan Culler, 2023-01-06 A work of technical skill as well as outstanding literary merit Structuralist Poetics was awarded the 1975 James Russell Lowell Prize of the Modern Language Association It was during the writing of this book that Culler developed his now famous and remarkably complex theory of poetics and narrative and while never a populariser he nonetheless makes it crystal clear within these pages The Poverty of Structuralism Leonard Jackson, 2014-09-11 The Poverty of Structuralism is the first in a sequence of volumes which examine in turn the basic ideas of Saussure Marx and Freud and analyse the way in which they have been developed and applied to art culture and modern textual theory The text offers a critical introduction to the structuralist foundations of modern literary theory It gives an account of the way such foundations have been developed twisted and distorted to become part of the language that contemporary literary and cultural theoreticians use It also addresses some of the fundamental issues about language and society that are presupposed by the often difficult language of modern literary and cultural theory A Reader's Guide to Contemporary Literary Theory Raman Selden, Peter Widdowson, Peter Brooker, 2016-12-19 A Reader's Guide to Contemporary Literary Theory is a classic introduction to the complex yet crucial area of literary theory This book is known for its clear accessible style and its thorough logical approach guiding the reader through the essentials of literary theory It includes two new chapters New Materialisms which incorporates ecocriticism animal studies posthumanism and thing theory 21st Century and Future Developments which includes technology digital humanities ethics and affect The Fate of Meaning John K. Sheriff, 2014-07-14 This succinct and lucid study examines the thought of the philosopher Charles Peirce as it applies to literary theory and shows that his concept of the sign can give us a fresh understanding of literary art and criticism John Sheriff analyzes the treatment of determinate meaning and contends that as long as we cling to a notion of language that begins with Saussure's dyadic definition of signs meaning cannot be treated as such any more than can essence or presence Asserting that Peirce's less familiar position offers a way out of this difficulty Sheriff first discusses the Saussurean based theory of meaning and then argues for the advantages of the radically different triadic theory developed by Peirce Part One of the work reviews and critiques the treatment of meaning in works by Jonathan Culler Tzvetan Todorov Stanley Fish Roland Barthes and Jacques Derrida among others The focus of this section is on the treatment of meaning in structural and post structural theories and their common basis in Saussurean linguistics Part Two provides a readable introduction to Peirce's general theory of signs and develops comprehensively the implications of his semiotic The substitution of his theory for Saussure's opens our eyes to new and cogent answers to many questions relevant to the meaning of texts Originally published in 1989 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available

Post-Structuralism and the Question of History Derek Attridge, Geoff Bennington, Robert Young, 1987 Recent developments in literary theory such as structuralism and deconstruction have come under attack for neglecting history while historically based approaches have been criticized for failing to take account of the problems inherent in their methodological foundations This collection of essays is unique in that it focuses on the relation between post structuralism and historical especially Marxist literary theory and criticism The volume includes a deconstructive reading of Marx essays that relate history to the philosophical and institutional context and a number of studies of particular texts literary and non literary which pose the question of history and literary theory with particular force

Structuralism or Criticism? Geoffrey Strickland, 1983-09-29 Geoffrey Strickland's book considers some of the principal Structuralist theories of the sixties and seventies which derive from the semiology or science of signs postulated by the Swiss linguist Saussure at the beginning of the twentieth century The book falls into three parts In the first Strickland argues that in one essential the structuralist enterprise was misconceived The second and most substantial part of the book is a defence of certain fundamental presuppositions in the act of reading There is a discussion of the nature and accessibility of authorial intention of the necessary fallibility in our understanding of what we read of the objective aspect of evaluation and of the sense in which the student of literature is also a student of history In the final section the author summarises the arguments of the book with a detailed comparison of the writings of Roland Barthes and F R Leavis Strickland has produced a lively and provocative contribution to literary debates on structuralism which ranges widely over both French and English criticism and literary theory History of Structuralism: The sign sets, 1967-present François Dosse, 1997 Content Description Includes bibliographical references and index
