K-8] Sonja Cherry-Paul, 2024-05-09 When can we move beyond representation to liberation This question from a young Black girl moved New York Times 1 bestselling author Dr Sonja Cherry Paul to offer a vision for antiracist teaching that goes far beyond adding diverse texts in a classroom library Antiracist Reading Revolution provides an actionable antiracist teaching framework and models how K 8 educators can create opportunities for transformative reading and discussions in classrooms Dr Cherry Paul offers six critical lenses that help educators to adopt an antiracist teaching stance spotlighting the importance of instruction built around love joy community justice and solidarity Educators are invited to reflect on their instructional practices dismantle ideologies that are barriers to students critical and creative thinking and cultivate identity inspiring learning experiences where students can show up fully as themselves and recognize the full humanity of all people. This is what it means to move beyond representation to liberation. Chapters feature several children's books that center BIPOC characters and creators. Dr. Cherry Paul provides prompts and pathways for each children's book that guide teachers toward putting into action the six critical lenses at the core of the Antiracist Reading Framework: affirmation, awareness, authorship, atmosphere, activism, and accountability. And she provides toolkits for students and teachers to use when selecting and reading books on their own. Chapters in this book also offer personal and insightful anecdotes supported by research and scholarship that illustrate the power of antiracist teaching in working toward equity, justice, and freedom. Provide a clear and actionable guide for K-8 literacy educators including classroom teachers, instructional coaches, and librarians. Encourage critical reflection, pausing to ask educators to examine their own identities and values and how these influence their teaching. Guide educators toward selecting and teaching with books that center the lived experiences of BIPOC students. This book is a call to action. In Dr. Cherry Paul's words: "In an antiracist classroom, reading helps us to dream, experience joy, engage in collective struggle, liberate our minds, and love. Let's move forward together to realize our vision of an antiracist reading classroom rooted in love and liberation."

Standards in Practice, Grades 3-5 Martha Sierra-Perry, 1996. Recognizing that the literacy demands that students now face require their active involvement in their own learning, this book considers a wide variety of ways to encourage that involvement. The book describes how teachers' practices foster literacy communities in their classrooms that can help students achieve the standards for the English language arts developed by the National Council of Teachers of English and the International Reading Association. The book states that students and teachers in these classrooms work together at learning hubs, develop their own criteria for revising work in progress, initiate conferences and book chats, and inquire into questions that are significant to them. Of special interest in the book are ideas for how students can take advantage of the new technological resources becoming available in many classrooms and how the classroom community might also involve parents and others outside the school.
