Understanding Conflicts about Wildlife Catherine M. Hill, Amanda D. Webber, Nancy E. C. Priston, 2017-05-01 Conflicts about wildlife are usually portrayed and understood as resulting from the negative impacts of wildlife on human livelihoods or property However a greater depth of analysis reveals that many instances of human wildlife conflict are often better understood as people people conflict wherein there is a clash of values between different human groups Understanding Conflicts About Wildlife unites academics and practitioners from across the globe to develop a holistic view of these interactions It considers the political and social dimensions of human wildlife conflicts alongside effective methodological approaches and will be of value to academics conservationists and policy makers

Alternative Dispute Resolution in Tanzania Mashamba, Clement J. , 2014-09-01 Today Alternative Dispute Resolution ADR has gained international recognition and is widely used to complement the conventional methods of resolving disputes through courts of law ADR simply entails all modes of dispute settlement resolution other than the traditional approaches of dispute settlement through courts of law Mainly these modes are negotiation mediation re conciliation and arbitration The modern ADR movement began in the United States as a result of two main concerns for reforming the American justice system the need for better quality processes and outcomes in the judicial system and the need for efficiency of justice ADR was transplanted into the African legal systems in the 1980s and 1990s as a result of the liberalization of the African economies which was accompanied by such conditionalities as reform of the justice and legal sectors under the Structural Adjustment Programmes However most of the methods of ADR that are promoted for inclusion in African justice systems are similar to pre colonial African dispute settlement mechanisms that encouraged restoration of harmony and social bonds in the justice system In Tanzania ADR was introduced in 1994 through Government Notice No 422 which amended the First Schedule to the Civil Procedure Code Act 1966 and it is now an inherent component of the country s legal system In recognition of its importance in civil litigation in Tanzania ADR has been made a compulsory subject in higher learning training institutions for lawyers This handbook provides theories principles examples of practice and materials relating to ADR in Tanzania and is therefore an essential resource for practicing lawyers as well as law students with an interest in Tanzania It also contains additional information on evolving standards in international commercial arbitration which are very useful to legal practitioners and law students

Sharing Thoughts José Luis Bermúdez,Matheus Valente,Víctor M. Verdejo,2025-07-08 Philosophical work on the nature of thought has until recently focused primarily on what it is for an individual to think leaving aside important questions about the intersubjective dimension of thought For example In what sense if any can thoughts really be shared Is there a shareability requirement on successful communication disagreement or the transmission of knowledge Do particular types of thought such as those based on perception or self location raise distinctive challenges to their shareability More generally how should we understand the communication and coordination of our thoughts in exchanges with others Are there distinctive rationality constraints governing the intersubjective aspects of thought Sharing Thoughts brings together original work by established and emerging philosophers to address these and related foundational issues while also paying attention to more specific questions such as the interplay between the intersubjectivity of thought and the internalism externalism debate the elucidation of first person or egocentric thought our capacity for joint thinking the conditions for knowledge transmission and collective inquiry the expression of thought in music and more
