Ainley,Juliette Goldman,Rodney J. Reed,1990 Children spend a significant part of their lives in primary school The quality of that experience is important in itself and as the foundation for their future Data were gathered from over 3000 students in 40 primary schools Children were asked about the quality of their school life and information was also obtained about their achievement in mathematics and reading comprehension Overall most students in Years 5 and 6 felt good about their lives in school had good relations with their teachers and felt a sense of social integration These positive views were held regardless of social background or performance in mathematics and reading Boys and girls performed equally well in mathematics but girls scored better on reading comprehension tests Differences did show up between schools and between classrooms in students views of school life especially in the areas of adventure in learning and teacher student relations and in achievement The authors point to the need for a closer look at schools practices and policies and at their influence on the degree to which students become excited about their school work The Annual Report of Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Schools

Great Britain. Office for Standards in Education, Office for standards in education (GB)., 2002 The remit of the Office for Standards in Education OFSTED is to improve standards of achievement and quality of education in England through regular independent inspection of schools public reporting and informed independent advice The annual report for 2000 01 considers current issues of importance contains the evidence from the year s inspections and identifies particularly successful schools Overall the report finds there are continuing improvements in the quality of teaching and in the leadership and management of schools The achievements of pupils with special educational needs are found to show improvements both in special and mainstream schools The problems in the recruitment and in particular the retention of teachers are noted The report highlights two key concerns regarding 1 the gap between the highest and lowest performing schools at secondary level 2 and the under achievement levels amongst certain groups of pupils including those from ethnic minorities children in care children from traveller communities as well as a significant number of missing pupils of whom very little is known
