Locating the Industrial Revolution Eric L. Jones, 2010 The familiar industrialisation of northern England and less familiar de industrialisation of the south are shown to have depended on a common process Neither rise nor decline resulted from differences in natural resource endowments since they began before the use of coal and steam in manufacturing Instead political certainty competitive ideology and Enlightenment optimism encouraged investment in transport and communications This integrated the national market intensifying competition between regions and altering economic distributions Despite a dysfunctional landed system agricultural innovation meant that the south's comparative advantage shifted towards the farm sector Meanwhile its manufactures slowly declined Once industry clustered in the less benign northern environment technological changes in manufacturing accumulated there This book portrays the Industrial Revolution as deriving from economic competition within unique political arrangements

Seismic Resistance of Vernacular Timber Frames with Infills Andreea Dutu, Yoshihiro Yamazaki, 2024-03-28
This book provides an engineer's perspective on the traditional construction methods for timber frames with infills focusing on traditional paianta houses in Romania and minka houses in Japan to provide insights into the construction seismic behavior and design considerations of such structures
The nuances of each country's traditional construction methods are considered as well as the shared seismic culture and the similar functionality and local materials used for the houses plus challenges from earthquake loading and fire
The efforts to preserve traditional houses in Romania are contrasted with Japan's regulatory framework for traditional residential construction methods
Strengthening solutions are also proposed for timberframed houses with infills considering various causes of degradation
Introduces examples from non seismic and seismic prone countries
Provides a comparative analysis of worldwide examples
Presents design examples illustrating the integration of traditional architecture with modern design standards
The book serves as a comprehensive guide to the engineering intricacies of traditional houses in Romania and Japan for engineers and architects with practical applications for new constructions worldwide
