Writing A Politics Of Perception:

Writing a Politics of Perception Dawn Thompson, 2000-01-01 Looking at five novels by women writing in Canada Thompson develops a theory of holographic memory in which texts are performances that invite constant revision remodelling and interaction between narrative memory and potentially reality

The Politics of Writing Islam Mahmut Mutman, 2013-11-21 The Politics of Writing Islam provides a much needed critique of existing forms of studying writing and representing Islam in the West Through critiquing ethnographic literary critical psychoanalytic and theological discourses the author reveals the problematic underlying cultural and theoretical presuppositions Mutman demonstrates how their approach reflects the socially politically and economically unequal relationship between the West and Islam While offering a critical insight into concepts such as writing power post colonialism difference and otherness on a theoretical level Mutman reveals a different perspective on Islam by emphasizing its living everyday and embodied aspects in dynamic relation with the outside world in contrast to the stereotyped authoritarian and backward religion characterized by an omnipotent God Throughout Mutman develops an approach to culture as an embodied everyday living and ever changing practice He argues that Islam should be perceived precisely in this way that is as an open heterogeneous interpretive multiple and worldly belief system within the Abrahamic tradition of ethical monotheism and as one that is contested within as well as outside its own culture

Empire's Wake: Postcolonial Irish Writing and the Politics of Modern Literary Form Mark Quigley, 2013 Traces development of Irish literary modernism from the 1920s to the 1990s through the writings of James Joyce John Millington Synge Samuel Beckett Sean O Faolain Frank McCourt and the Blasket Island autobiographers Tomas O Crohan and Maurice O Sullivan Considers Irish literature in relation to Irish nationalism and aftermath of British empire

The Politics of Interpretation Patrick Colm Hogan, 1990-07-26 This interpretive study analyzes the complex politics of literature criticism and professionalism While affirming the profound importance of political analysis from the ideological critique of literary texts to the social and economic critique of academic institutions Hogan reassesses the poststructuralist doctrines that underlie much recent work in this area He presents extended expositions and criticisms of the views of several influential poststructuralist writers including Jacques Derrida and Luce Irigaray In keeping with recent post poststructuralist trends in France and elsewhere Hogan argues for the political necessity of rational inference and empirical enquiry guided by ethical and more specifically Kantian considerations In the process he convincingly formulates a general theory of ideology that recognizes the crucial link between literary politics and the concrete political issues that affect the lives of real men and women in the real world of social and material life His study concludes with an economic analysis of the institutions of literary study outlining some anarchist implications for their restructuring

The Politics of Prose Denis Hollier, 1986

Perception and Misperception in International Politics Robert Jervis , 1976

Writing Politics Michael J Shapiro, 2021-07-01 Writing Politics is a methods book designed to instruct on politically focused literary inquiry Exploring the political sensibilities that arise from the way literary fiction re-textualizes historical periods and events the book features a series of violence-themed inquiries that emphasize forms of writing as the vehicles for politically attuned historiography. Each investigation treats the way the literary genre within historiographic metafiction enables political inquiry. It is a form of writing that inter-articulates history and fiction to rework a textual past and unsettle dominant understandings of events and situations. Central to the diverse chapters are fictional treatments of authoritarian fascist or zealous mentalities. Featured for example are Radovan Karadzic the architect of the Bosnian genocide, Reinhard Heydrich the architect of the Holocaust's final solution and the Trotsky assassin Ramon Mercader. Michael J. Shapiro has produced another original and sophisticated bookshelf staple, the only contemporary investigation in Political Studies that instructs on method in this way. The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science, Art, and Finance, 1873 Humanities Index, 2002 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art, 1881 Principles Of International Politics: People's Power, Preferences, and Perceptions, 3rd Edition Bruce Bueno De Mesquita, 2006. Leaders want to stay in power. Their self-interest is the decisive motivation for action in the international arena and forms the theoretical backbone for this exciting departure from other introductory international relations texts. Through its discussion and development of the strategic perspective, Principles of International Politics shows students how leaders translate their personal interests and ambitions into actions of the state and convincingly demonstrates how international and domestic politics are inextricably linked. Clearly explaining both the foundational ideas of international relations as well as the key concepts of the strategic perspective, Bueno de Mesquita effectively links these to the analytic tools students will employ throughout. The Canadian Magazine of Politics, Science, Art and Literature, 1894 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art, 1931 Writer's Monthly, 1920 French Writers and Politics, 1936-1944 E.
