Beauty in the Age of Empire Raja Adal,2019-08-13 When modern primary schools were first founded in Japan and Egypt in the 1870s they did not teach art Yet by the middle of the twentieth century art education was a permanent part of Japanese and Egyptian primary schooling Both countries taught music and drawing and wartime Japan also taught calligraphy Why did art education become a core feature of schooling in societies as distant as Japan and Egypt and how is aesthetics entangled with nationalism colonialism and empire Beauty in the Age of Empire is a global history of aesthetic education focused on how Western practices were adopted transformed and repurposed in Egypt and Japan Raja Adal uncovers the emergence of aesthetic education in modern schools and its role in making a broad spectrum of ideologies from fascism to humanism attractive With aesthetics educators sought to enchant children with sounds and sights using their ears and eyes to make ideologies into objects of desire Spanning multiple languages and continents and engaging with the histories of nationalism art education and transnational exchanges Beauty in the Age of Empire offers a strikingly original account of the rise of aesthetics in modern schools and the modern world It shows that while aesthetics is important to all societies it was all the more important for those countries on the receiving end of Western expansion which could not claim

Writing in the Devil's Tongue Xiaoye You, 2010-01-29 Winner CCCC Outstanding Book Award Until recently American composition scholars have studied writing instruction mainly within the borders of their own nation rarely considering English composition in the global context in which writing in English is increasingly taught Writing in the Devil's Tongue challenges this anachronistic approach by examining the history of English composition instruction in an East Asian country Author Xiaoye You offers scholars a chance to observe how a nation changed from monolingual writing practices to bilingual writing instruction in a school setting You makes extensive use of archival sources to help trace bilingual writing instruction in China back to 1862 when English was first taught in government schools Treating the Chinese pursuit of modernity as the overarching theme he explores how the entry of Anglo American rhetoric and composition challenged and altered the traditional monolithic practice of teaching Chinese writing in the Confucian spirit The author focuses on four aspects of this history the Chinese negotiation with Anglo American rhetoric their search for innovative approaches to instruction students situated use of English writing and local scholarship in English composition Unlike previous composition histories which have tended to focus on institutional disciplinary and pedagogical issues Writing in the Devil's Tongue brings students back to center stage by featuring several passages written by them in each chapter These passages not only showcase rhetorical and linguistic features of their writings but also serve as representative anecdotes that reveal the complex ways in which students responding to their situations performed multivalent intercultural discourses In addition You moves out of the classroom and into the historical cultural and political contexts that shaped both Chinese writing and composing practices and the pedagogies that were adopted to teach English to Chinese in China Teachers students and scholars reading this book will learn a great deal about the political and cultural impact that teaching English composition has had in China and about the ways in which Chinese writing and composition continues to be shaped by rich and diverse cultural traditions and political discourses In showcasing the Chinese struggle with teaching and practicing bilingual composition Writing in the Devil's Tongue alerts American writing scholars and teachers to an outdated English monolingual mentality and urges them to modify their rhetorical assumptions pedagogical approaches and writing practices in the age of globalization Writing by Types Albert Croll Baugh, Paul Cliff Kitchen, Matthew Wilson Black, 1924 American Journal of Education and College Review , 1878 Vol 25 is the report of the commissioner of education for 1880 v 29 report for 1877 The Cumulative Book
