With My Own Eyes Susan Bordeaux Bettelyoun, Josephine Waggoner, 1999-08-01 With My Own Eyes tells the history of the nineteenth century Lakotas Susan Bordeaux Bettelyoun 1857 1945 the daughter of a French American fur trader and a Brul Lakota woman was raised near Fort Laramie and experienced firsthand the often devastating changes forced on the Lakotas As Bettelyoun grew older she became increasingly dissatisfied with the way her people s history was being represented by non Natives With My Own Eyes represents her attempt to correct misconceptions about Lakota history Bettelyoun s narrative was recorded during the 1930s by another Lakota historian Josephine Waggoner This detailed insightful account of Lakota history was never previously published Foundations in Sociolinguistics Dell Hymes, 1974-05 A highly influential scholar urges that linguistics be studied as part of the entire communicative conduct of social groups and demonstrates the mutual relation between linguistics and other disciplines such as sociology social anthropology and education Rosebud Sioux Donovin Arleigh Sprague, 2005 The Sicangu burnt thighs received their name when some of the Lakota peoples legs were burned in a great prairie fire The French later named them Brule and two large groups of the band would be settled on two reservations Rosebud and Lower Brule in South Dakota Author Donovin Sprague examines the history of the Rosebud Sioux through a collection of photographs and personal family interviews

Department of the Interior, 1884 Writing Their Bodies Sarah Klotz, 2021-02-01 Between 1879 and 1918 the Carlisle Indian Industrial School housed over 10 000 students and served as a prototype for boarding schools on and off reservations across the continent Writing Their Bodies analyzes pedagogical philosophies and curricular materials through the perspective of written and visual student texts created during the school s first three year term Using archival and decolonizing methodologies Sarah Klotz historicizes remedial literacy education and proposes new ways of reading Indigenous rhetorics to expand what we know about the Native American textual tradition This approach tracks the relationship between curriculum and resistance and enumerates an anti assimilationist methodology for teachers and scholars of writing in contemporary classrooms From the Carlisle archive emerges the concept of a rhetoric of relations a set of Native American communicative practices that circulates in processes of intercultural interpretation and world making Klotz explores how embodied and material practices allowed Indigenous rhetors to maintain their cultural identities in the off reservation boarding school system and critiques the settler fantasy of benevolence that propels assimilationist models of English education Writing Their Bodies moves beyond language and literacy education where educators standardize and limit their students means of communication and describes the extraordinary expressive repositories that Indigenous rhetors draw upon to survive persist and build futures in colonial institutions of education

Crazy Horse Kingsley M. Bray, 2006 Crazy Horse A Lakota Life corrects older idealized accounts and draws on a greater variety of sources than other recent biographies to expose the real Crazy Horse not the brash Sioux warrior we have come to expect but a modest reflective man whose courage was anchored in Lakota piety Kingsley M Bray has plumbed interviews of Crazy Horse's contemporaries and consulted modern Lakotas to fill in vital details of Crazy Horse's inner and public life To this day Crazy Horse remains a compelling symbol of resistance for modern Lakotas Crazy Horse A Lakota Life is a singular achievement scholarly and authoritative offering a complete portrait of the man and a fuller understanding of his place in American Indian and United States history

A Sioux Chronicle George E. Hyde, 1956 Though confined to the great Dakota reservation in 1878 the still defiant Sioux did not end their struggle with the white man until well into the twentieth century Throughout the last decades of the nineteenth century the Sioux finding themselves united for the first time in their history waged a cold war with the United States Department of the Interior the Indian Bureau the various Indian agents sent to supervise Sioux Reservation life and the so called Indian Friends of the East who sought to school and church the Sioux into submission

Education for Extinction David Wallace Adams, 1995 The last Indian War was fought against Native American children in the dormitories and classrooms of government boarding schools Only by removing Indian children from their homes for extended periods of time policymakers reasoned could white civilization take root while childhood memories of savagism gradually faded to the point of extinction In the words of one official Kill the Indian and save the man Education for Extinction offers the first comprehensive account of this dispiriting effort Much more than a study of federal Indian policy this book vividly details the day to day experiences of Indian youth living in a total institution designed to reconstruct them both psychologically and culturally The assault on identity came in many forms the shearing off of braids the assignment of new names uniformed drill routines humiliating punishments relentless attacks on native religious beliefs patriotic indoctrinations suppression of tribal languages Victorian gender rituals football contests and industrial training Especially poignant is Adams's description of the ways in which students resisted or accommodated themselves to forced assimilation Many converted to varying degrees but others plotted escapes committed arson and devised ingenious strategies of passive resistance Adams also argues that many of those who seemingly cooperated with the system were more than passive players in this drama that the response of accommodation was not synonymous with cultural surrender This is especially apparent in his analysis of students who returned to the reservation He reveals the various ways in which graduates struggled to make sense of their lives and selectively drew upon their school experience in negotiating personal and tribal survival in a world increasingly dominated by white men The discussion comes full circle when Adams reviews the government's gradual retreat from the assimilationist vision Partly because of persistent student resistance but also partly because of a complex and sometimes contradictory set of progressive humanitarian and racist motivations policymakers did eventually come to view boarding schools less enthusiastically Based upon extensive use of government archives Indian and teacher autobiographies and school newspapers Adams's moving account is essential reading for scholars and general readers alike interested in Western history Native American studies American race relations education history and multiculturalism List of Lights, Fog-Signals and Radio Aids to Navigation on the Inland Waters [West of Montreal and East of British Columbia] of the Dominion of Canada Canada. Dept. of Marine, 1930 House documents, 1885 Rethinking Classroom Participation Katherine Schultz, 2009-10-30 Katherine Schultz examines the complex role student silence can play in teaching and learning Urging teachers to listen to student silence in new ways this book offers real life examples and proven strategies for rethinking classroom participation to include all students those eager to raise their hands to speak and those who may pause or answer in different ways from publisher description Journal of Social Science, 1885 Poems of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1883 South Dakota Historical Collections, 1904 The Complete Poetical Works Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1917 Annual Report of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, 1909 Annual Review of the Progress of South Dakota, 1904 The Poetical Works of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1878 The Complete Poetical Works of Longfellow Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1922 Synopsis This book ambitiously brings together all Longfellow's poems into a single volume As well as his justly famous works such as Hiawatha The Wreck of the Hesperus and Evangeline there is much else here to delight the reader such as his many short poems translations and verse dramas
