Social Security Financing Geneva:

Report, Meeting of Experts on Social Security Financing (Geneva, 30 November-3 December 1981). ,1981 Conference report on social security financing discusses payroll income tax contributions and general taxation as methods for financing and emphasises the relationship between financing methods and social and economic conditions in policy choices List of documents and list of participants Conference held in Geneva 1981 Nov 30 to Dec 3 Issues in Social Security Financing in the Caribbean ,2000 Publication ,1957 Averting the Old Age Crisis ,1994 This policy oriented book identifies the issues countries should consider as they reevaluate their old income security policies and formulate new methods The choice between the various models for providing old age security has broad implications for the operation of labor and capital markets the fiscal system and the level growth and distribution of GNP The author concludes that a mixed strategy is more effective than any single method of income security This will be an important book for international economists and policymakers Social Security for Social Justice and a Fair Globalization International Labour Office,2011 This report seeks to inform the debate during the 100th Session of the International Labour Conference by providing a an overview of the present state of social security around the world b an identification of the main social security challenges c an overview of national and ILO responses to the challenges and d suggestions for the direction of future ILO action Objective of the report Informational Service Circular ,1957 Social Security Bulletin ,1948 International Labour Documentation International Labour Office. Central Library and Documentation Branch,1991 Unemployment Insurance Occasional Paper ,1989 Part-time Work and Social Security Law Michel Magrez,International Social Security Association. General Assembly,1990 IMF Staff papers International Monetary Fund. Research Dept.,1988-01-01 The proposal to set up an international debt facility to buy the debt of developing countries at a discount and then mark down its contractual value is analyzed The paper considers the central question of how the debtor countries creditor banks and owners of the facility would be affected in particular what redistribution of gains and losses there would be among them The market price effect and the ceiling effect are distinguished A crucial consideration is whether debt retained by banks is subordinated to debt bought by the facility UI Research Exchange ,1989 Social Security Robert Julius Myers,1981 Financing Development ,2007 As aid alone cannot finance development the emergence of new financing options is good news but it also raises challenges This book assess the changing landscape of international development finance from a global and a developing country perspective It looks at the policy implications for donor and recipient alike and provides recommendations on policy mechanisms for the use of both grants and loans in development finance and on the challenges of managing diverse financial flows at country level International Handbook on Old-Age Insurance Martin Tracy,Fred C. Pampel,1991-08-26 One measure of public program response to rapidly expanding older populations is the approach to old age pensions under social insurance social assistance and provident fund systems Social insurance is clearly the preferred method of meeting the income needs of the elderly but historical as well as current social and economic conditions are forcing many nations to reevaluate the characteristics of viable and sustainable social insurance programs This has led to a variety of innovations in old age pension programs development including revised benefit formulas raised retirement ages increased income testing and expanded reliance on private occupational supplemental programs The essays in this new international handbook analyze the impact of the economic social and cultural effects of aging populations on government social insurance policies They offer a perspective on how twenty different countries have approached income maintenance programs for the elderly Collectively the contributors demonstrate how governments non governmental entities communities and families respond to changes in traditional income and social service support systems They provide not only descriptions of existing programs but also a better understanding of the factors that gave rise to their distinct characteristics This important new collection will be required reading for everyone involved in elderly services International Labour Review ,1926 The Law of South Africa ,1976 Public Affairs Information Service Bulletin ,1921 Bulletin of the Public Affairs Information Service Public Affairs Information Service,1923 Subject Catalog Library of Congress,1982
