Up Against The Sprawl:

Up Against the Sprawl Jennifer R. Wolch, Peter Dreier, 2004 America's first truly twenty first century metropolis Los Angeles is often depicted as diverse fragmented polarized and ungovernable a city without a unifying geographic center or civic culture The sprawling evolution of the city and its infamous problems traffic pollution growing inequality are usually attributed to a Wild West version of capitalism the triumph of an unregulated free market over comprehensive urban planning But market choices and lack of planning did not set the terrain of Southern California Los Angeles has been profoundly shaped by a wide range of local state and federal public policies and programs Up against the Sprawl details how governmental policies and public agencies have dictated many aspects of the region's growth infrastructure transportation housing immigration finances civic and regional administration the environment The authors also argue that since public policy set the landscape it can help forge the future They explore countermovements by progressive activists to use innovative policies from smart growth initiatives to the actions of living wage advocates for greater social economic and environmental justice This book is a major contribution to our understanding of past and present urban processes and policy and highlights practical lessons for urban and regional policy makers and activists in Los Angeles and beyond Contributors Carolyn B Aldana California State U San Bernadino Carol S Armstrong Michael Dear U of Southern California Gary Dymski U of California Riverside Steven P Erie USC Gregory Freeman William Fulton Elizabeth Gearin USC Genevieve Giuliano USC Pascale Joassart Marcelli U of Massachusetts Boston Enrico A Marcelli Myra A Marks Loyola Marymount U Juliet Musso USC Stephanie Pincetl USC Laura Pulido Christine M Ryan John P Wilson Jennifer Wolch is professor of geography and director of the Center for Sustainable Cities at the University of Southern California Manuel Pastor Jr is professor of Latino and Latin American studies and director of the Center for Justice Tolerance and Community at the University of California Santa Cruz Peter Dreier is Clapp Distinguished Professor and director of the Urban and Environmental Policy Program at Occidental College

Sunbelt/Frostbelt Janet Rothenberg Pack, 2005-03-02 Metropolitan growth and development results from a complex mix of factors Consumer preferences growth and geographical shifts in population increasing incomes market restructuring quality of schools and location of affordable housing are just a few that play a critical role Other important influences include state and local interactions historical circumstances and the natural topography of a metropolitan area Federal and state policies taken together set the rules of the development game that tend to facilitate economic decentralization the concentration of poverty and greater fiscal and racial disparities between communities In S unbelt Frostbelt Janet Rothenberg Pack and her contributors examine the role of market forces and government policies in shaping growth and development patterns in major metropolitan areas The findings are a result of a multiyear project analyzing five different locales two sunbelt metro areas Los Angeles and Phoenix and three in northern climes Pittsburgh Chicago and Philadelphia Through its intensive study of these areas the book offers a deep understanding of the federal policies and diverse market forces that have affected urban development patterns in the last few decades Despite the diversity of the cities the contributors find remarkable similarities in the problems they face Urban sprawl and spatial inequality are among the common challenges attributable to market forces and public policies Despite the many similarities the book finds important differences in the extent of the problems and recommends numerous policies for remedying them It concludes by examining how these different sunbelt and frostbelt metro areas have attempted to adopt policy reforms that address their unique growth challenges Contributors include a team of researchers from Arizona State University Peter Dreier Occidental College Robert E Gleeson Northern Illinois University Joseph Gyourko Unvers Bird versus Bulldozer Audrey L Mayer,2021-03-09 An examination of the struggle to conserve biodiversity in urban regions told through the story of the threatened coastal California gnatcatcher The story of the rare coastal California gnatcatcher is a parable for understanding the larger ongoing struggle to conserve biodiversity in regions confronted with intensifying urban development Because this gnatcatcher depends on vanishing coastal sage scrub in Southern California it has been regarded as a flagship species for biodiversity protection since the early 1990s But the uncertainty of the gnatcatcher s taxonomic classification and whether it can be counted as a listable unit under the Endangered Species Act has provoked contentious debate among activists scientists urban developers and policy makers Synthesizing insights from ecology environmental history public policy analysis and urban planning as she tracks these debates over the course of the past twenty five years Audrey L Mayer presents an ultimately optimistic take on the importance of much neglected regional conservation planning strategies to create sustainable urban landscapes that benefit humans and wildlife alike Transforming the City Marion Orr,2007 A path breaking book the first to examine the evolution of community organizing in U S cities While embracing mobilization the contributors acknowledge the challenges inherent in globalization and the norms and values that shape contemporary American culture Still they reaffirm that community organizing has an important role to play as part of a broader progressive movement The Essential Civil Society Reader Don E. Eberly,2000-07-12 There is a growing anxiety about the basic health of society Everywhere we see the fraying of the social fabric the decline of families the absence of consensus on unifying moral principles and the disappearance of community and voluntary associations Around the world politicians and intellectuals of all political persuasions seek to restore civil society by cultivating stronger public ethics and social institutions In The Essential Civil Society Reader Don Eberly one of the nation s leading civil society theorists and activists presents the classic writings of the leading scholars and organizers who have brought the civil society debate to the forefront of American politics The future of democracy depends on a strong civil society and this book tells readers how we can achieve it Science John Michels (Journalist),2005 Environment and Planning ,2005 The Country in the City Richard Walker,2007 The San Francisco Bay Area is one of the world s most beautiful cities Despite a population of 7 million people it is more greensward than asphalt jungle more open space than hardscape A vast quilt of countryside is tucked into the folds of the metropolis stitched from fields farms and woodlands mines creeks and wetlands In The Country in the City Richard Walker tells the story of how the jigsaw geography of this greenbelt has been set into place Munsey's Magazine ,1924 The Living Age ,1919 Littell's Living Age ,1919 Shelterforce ,2003 The Quarterly Journal of Economics Charles Franklin Dunbar, Frank William Taussig, Abbott Payson Usher, Alvin Harvey Hansen, William Leonard Crum, Edward Chamberlin, Arthur Eli Monroe, 1922 Vols 1 22 include the section Recent publications upon economics Wooden Swords Jacques Deval, 1930 The Strand Magazine George Newnes, 1897 “The” Strand Magazine ,1897 The Strand Magazine Sir George Newnes, 1898 Outing ,1894 The Complete Works of William Makepeace Thackeray William Makepeace Thackeray, 1889
