Wind From The Stars:

The Wind from the Stars George MacDonald, 1993-03-01 Sky, Wind, and Stars Dongju Yun, 2003 Born and raised in northern Manchuria during the colonial period of Korea Yun Dong ju was a poet of the utmost purity beauty and sincerity His posthumously published collection of poems under the title Sky wind stars and poems is one of the all time favorites of Korean readers Wishing not to have so much as a speck of shame toward heaven until the day I die I suffered even when the wind stirred the leaves From Foreword In simple diction and straightforward expressions his poems sing of his love for his people his compassion for the poor and destitute and his hopes for freedom and independence These themes still resonate deep within the hearts of the Korean people His imprisonment and eventual death in 1945 in a Japanese prison lend great poignancy to his work

Friends' Weekly Intelligencer, 1887 The Path of the Wind John Burton, 1929 Chapters 1-128, 1916 Friends' Intelligencer United with the Friends' Journal, 1887 Paracelsus (Theophrastus Bombast von Hohenheim, 1493-1541), Cosmological and Meteorological Writings Andrew Weeks, Didier Kahn, 2024-09-02 Paracelsus 1493 1541 stands at a crossroads associated with the Renaissance and Reformation His cosmological meteorological writings exemplify the turning point that concluded the older worldview and opened fresh avenues His nature philosophy is inseparable from his medicine This volume encompasses Paracelsus s writings on cosmology and meteorology in the German original with facing page translations The reliable source texts have been treated with methods of critical edition The source text and translation are accompanied by commentary elucidating their obscurity through the context of his full corpus while placing them in the context of the best secondary literature from his time to the present Hermetic chemistry Paracelsus, 1894 Pulsation and Mass Loss in Stars R. Stalio, L.A. Willson, 1988-07-31 Stellar mass loss is an essential part of the cycling of material from the interstellar medium into stars and back and must be understood if we are to model processes on galactic to cosmological scales The study of stellar winds and the effects of stellar mass loss has reached a particularly exciting stage where observational capabilities are increasingly able to provide interesting constraints on models and theories Recent results from theoretical and observational work for both hot and cool stars with substantial winds have led to the suggestion that a combination of pulsation with other mechanisms makes for particularly efficient mass loss from stars This provided the original motivation for the organization of this workshop The conference was organized along relatively conventional lines according to the types of objects being scrutinized However the true unity of the proceedings comes from the interplay of the mechanisms involved For example for the cool luminous Mira variables pulsation leads to shock waves that extend the atmosphere enhancing dust formation radiation pressure on dust drives the wind cooling the atmosphere and in some cases suppressing the shocks Similarly for the Be stars both pulsation in this case non radial and radiation pressure due to UV resonance lines are expected to be important and this expectation is at least qualitatively borne out by the observations
