Suspect Identities Simon A. COLE, Simon A Cole, 2009-06-30 No two fingerprints are alike or so it goes For nearly a hundred years fingerprints have represented definitive proof of individual identity in our society We trust them to tell us who committed a crime whether a criminal record exists and how to resolve questions of disputed identity But in Suspect Identities Simon Cole reveals that the history of criminal identification is far murkier than we have been led to believe Cole traces the modern system of fingerprint identification to the nineteenth century bureaucratic state and its desire to track and control increasingly mobile diverse populations whose race or ethnicity made them suspect in the eyes of authorities In an intriguing history that traverses the globe taking us to India Argentina France England and the United States Cole excavates the forgotten history of criminal identification from photography to exotic anthropometric systems based on measuring body parts from fingerprinting to DNA typing He reveals how fingerprinting ultimately won the trust of the public and the law only after a long battle against rival identification systems As we rush headlong into the era of genetic identification and as fingerprint errors are being exposed this history uncovers the fascinating interplay of our elusive individuality police and state power and the quest for scientific certainty Suspect Identities offers a necessary corrective to blind faith in the infallibility of technology and a compelling look at its role in defining each of us Water-resources Investigations ,1975

large following of enthusiasts NKU professor Robert K Wallace one of many passionate fans of the Norse has brought his appreciation for the team's players and their accomplishments to Thirteen Women Strong: The Making of a Team Chronicling the 2006-07 season of twelve remarkable student athletes and their legendary coach Wallace was granted unprecedented access to the team. Sitting in on closed meetings and practice sessions he follows the players through grueling training drills intensely close games exhilarating wins and anguished losses. During the 2005-06 season a squad of NKU women with no seniors achieved unanticipated success earning a 27-5 record that led to a Great Lakes Valley Conference championship. The entire team returned the following season to expectations of even greater success but their 2006-07 season was plagued by injuries and other major obstacles. After a string of tough losses the women mounted a comeback to earn a 21-8 record and reach the NCAA Division II Tournament once again.
