Working with Manuscripts Liv Ingeborg Lied, Brent Nongbri, 2025-04-15 A first of its kind handbook outlining best practices and common pitfalls for students and textual scholars interested in beginning to work with manuscripts While manuscripts are rare in most of the world today they were once ubiquitous Before the printing press literature was preserved and transmitted through handwritten copies containing variant readings mistakes corrections and other unique features Those who study premodern texts however often use as their primary sources not these diverse artifacts but critical editions that present a single convenient hybrid text Brent Nongbri and Liv Ingeborg Lied argue that knowledge of manuscripts is important for all interpreters of ancient texts even if learning how to study them can be confusing and intimidating In this book they draw on their decades of experience with Jewish and Christian manuscripts to demystify manuscript work Combining their interests in manuscripts as material artifacts with the ethical issues surrounding the study of manuscripts Lied and Nongbri guide students through the main phases of research from considerations of provenance and access to the practicalities of on site research analysis and publication The book includes aids for locating manuscripts helpful case studies tips for organizing data a glossary suggestions for further reading and more Written in an engaging style with students in mind this handbook provides an invaluable resource for anyone who wants to study a manuscript for the first time

Genealogical Manuscripts in Cross-Cultural Perspective Markus Friedrich, Jörg B. Quenzer, 2024-12-16 Situating the history of genealogy in the ambit of manuscript studies this volume explores how handwriting practices influenced the development of genealogies It shows how lineages used handwritten documents in constructing and presenting their identity both to the outside world and to themselves Genealogical handwriting is practiced in many manuscript cultures this volume is the first to juxtapose studies from a wide variety of such cultures ranging from East Asia to West and Central Asia to Europe As the present contributions discuss in depth tracing one's lineage usually required taking note of personal histories, biographies, and relationships; the chapters explore the many different reasons that compelled both individuals and institutions to do just this and highlight the various contexts in which genealogy writing occurred. Taking a material-oriented approach to handwriting practices in the study of genealogies can reveal the challenges implicated in producing such written artefacts, highlighting the enormous effort required in cultivating lineage-related knowledge. Seen from the view of manuscript studies, genealogies emerge as invaluable yet also highly fragile forms of cultural capital.

Composers at Work Jessie Ann Owens, 1998. Using sketches and other documentary evidence, this study is an investigation of composition in Renaissance music. It sets out the indispensable background to an inquiry and into the fundamental processes of Renaissance composition.

The Complete Works of Oscar Wilde Oscar Wilde, 2000. This volume presents for the first time the complete textual history of one of the most famous love letters ever written. Addressed to Wilde's lover Lord Alfred Douglas and composed in Reading, Gaol, it was later given the title De Profundis by Wilde's friend and literary executor Robert Ross. It was Ross's severely abridged and sanitized version published in 1905 and again in 1908, which inaugurated the tradition of seeing De Profundis as the apologia pro sua vita of a broken man. This edition takes account of this complex heritage by arguing that Wilde's prison document may be seen not just as the basis of a letter, a typed copy of which may have been sent to Douglas, but also as an unfinished literary work which he intended for public consumption at some future date. Such a case is made by placing in the public domain, often for the first time, a number of different works derived from different texts, each of which bears witness to Wilde's multiple intentions for his prison document. These texts comprise the manuscript held in the British Library, the version of Wilde's letter published by his son Vyvyan Holland from a typescript bequeathed to him by Robert Ross, hitherto unpublished witnesses to that typescript, and Ross's editions collated with each other. The commentary to this edition, again for the first time, sets Wilde's story of his own life in De Profundis against the testimony of other players in his drama, including most importantly that of Douglas. In so doing, it exposes the partial nature of Wilde's narrative as well as the personal obsessions which animated it. The commentary also demonstrates a hitherto unnoticed element of Wilde's work: the extent and nature of its richly layered intertextuality and its similarity in its compositional practices to many of his earlier works.

Handbook of Industrial Organization Mark Armstrong, Robert H. Porter, 2007-10-05. This is Volume 3 of the Handbook of Industrial Organization series. HIO Volumes 1-2 published simultaneously in 1989 and many of the chapters were widely cited and appeared on graduate reading lists. Since the first volumes published, the field of industrial organization has continued to evolve and this volume fills the gaps. While the first two volumes of HIO contain much more discussion of the theoretical literature than of the empirical literature, it was representative of the field at that time. Since then, the empirical literature has flourished while the theoretical literature has continued to grow and this new volume reflects that change of emphasis This volume is an excellent reference and teaching supplement for industrial organization or industrial economics the microeconomics field that focuses on business behavior and its implications for both market structures and processes and for related public policies Part of the renowned Handbooks in Economics series Chapters are contributed by some of the leading experts in their fields A source reference and teaching supplement for industrial organizations or industrial economists
