Two Arabs, a Berber, and a Jew Lawrence Rosen, 2016 Drawn from Memory is an important contribution to Moroccan studies to the field of anthropology and to academic approaches to biography Rosen weaves the threads of his narrative together into a tapestry focused on the lives of four men a raconteur a teacher an entrepreneur and a cloth dealer a Jew Ordinary people have intellectual lives Rosen tells us They may never have written a book they may never even have read one But their lives are rich in ideas constantly fashioned and revised elaborated and rearranged Rosen first encountered the four men he profiles in his book in the course of his academic research and he then visited and revisited these men and the towns in which they live over several decades He engaged them in a kind of continuous conversation He spoke to members of their family their neighbors and the town people Out of this wealth of material he has constructed a narrative that takes the reader not only into four intensely observed individual lives but also as it were the history of Morocco s evolution across the span of many decades he takes the reader not only into the outwardly lived lives of his subjects but their innermost thoughts their own perceptions of themselves and the evolving Moroccan world around them At the same time he manages to evoke the physical landscape the towns in which these men live marvelously well so that the towns and their inhabitants come alive for the reader Beautifully illustrated with archival and ethnographic photos Drawn from Memory teaches us that that for Moroccans and by extension Muslims in general nothing in everyday social life is hard and fast and the meaning and outcome
