Study Writing: A Course in Written English for Academic and Professional Purposes

By Liz Hamp-Lyons and Ben Heasley

Cambridge University Press, UK

First Published: 1987, Fifteenth printing: 2001

ISBN 0-521-31558-1

Study Writing is a handy book for learners at the upper-intermediate and more advanced levels who need to develop proficiency in English writing for various purposes. A major positive point of this book is its recognition and acceptance of the cognitive and discourse aspects of writing which the authors see as problem-solving wherein a writer “faces two main tasks: (a) generating ideas in language and, (b) composing these ideas into a written structure adapted to the needs of the reader and the goals of the writer” (p.1). The book has a total of 12 units of which units 1-9 comprise Part I and introduce a range of writing types for practice. Part I introduces functional types of writing and explores i) the principles of writing (“About Writing”); ii) aspects of grammar that are essential for writing expository texts (“Using Grammar in Writing”) and iii) provides an opportunity to students to write extended texts under fewer constraints (“Consolidation”). In Part II (units 10-12), the authors explore the organization of texts in various ways (structuring, developing and creating texts) and provides a framework for handling complete expository texts.

Most of the units in Part I deal with relationships of various kinds (spatial, class and linear), while one unit gives a general outline on organizing texts based on general-specific patterns. Almost all tasks require active involvement and reading on the part of the student; for example: Task 4 of Unit 1 requires the student to read the text and decide whether it has been written from a ‘bird’s eye’ view or a ‘pedestrian’ view. Similarly, Task 5 of Unit 3 asks the student to write definitions of terms such as ‘conditioned reflexes’ which draws attention to the differences between abstract and concrete definitions. Such tasks not only draw on the student’s intelligence but also facilitate a greater understanding of the nuances of writing skills. The book makes ample use of illustrations (maps, diagrams, tables, charts, cartoons, etc.), and these visual aids work in conjunction with linguistic inputs to provide a comprehensive consolidation of the writing exercises.

Study Writing envisages writing as a three stage process involving pre-writing, writing and rewriting, and the authors recommend that teachers be involved in the process by participating in it rather than criticizing the end product (the composition). The authors also recommend ‘cooperative writing’, i.e. working with partners and groups, as it makes writing a livelier, more enjoyable and involved practice. In order to develop competence in writing—the last of the language skills after listening, speaking and reading—the author has included a section entitled “Study Writing Yourself”. This
