Transforming Politics, Transforming America Taeku Lee, S. Karthick Ramakrishnan, Ricardo Ramírez, 2012-10-05 Over the past four decades the foreign born population in the United States has nearly tripled from about 10 million in 1965 to more than 30 million today This wave of new Americans comes in disproportionately large numbers from Latin America and Asia a pattern that is likely to continue in this century In Transforming Politics Transforming America editors Taeku Lee S Karthick Ramakrishnan and Ricardo Ram rez bring together the newest work of prominent scholars in the field of immigrant political incorporation to provide the first comprehensive look at the political behavior of immigrants Focusing on the period from 1965 to the year 2020 this volume tackles the fundamental yet relatively neglected questions What is the meaning of citizenship and what is its political relevance How are immigrants changing our notions of racial and ethnic categorization How is immigration transforming our understanding of mobilization participation and political assimilation With an emphasis on research that brings innovative theory quantitative methods and systematic data to bear on such questions this volume presents a provocative evidence based examination of the consequences that these demographic changes might have for the contemporary politics of the United States as well as for the concerns categories and conceptual frameworks we use to study race relations and ethnic politics Contributors Bruce Cain University of California Berkeley Grace Cho University of Michigan Jack Citrin University of California Berkeley Louis DeSipio University of California Irvine Brendan Doherty University of California Berkeley Lisa Garc a Bedolla University of California Irvine Zoltan Hajnal University of California San Diego Jennifer Holdaway Social Science Research Council Jane Junn Rutgers University Philip Kasnitz City University of New York Taeku Lee University of California Berkeley John Mollenkopf City University of New York Tatishe Mavovosi Nteta University of California Berkeley Kathryn Pearson University of Minnesota Kenneth Prewitt Columbia University S Karthick Ramakrishnan University of California Riverside Ricardo Ram rez University of Southern California Mary Waters Harvard University Cara Wong University of Michigan Janelle Wong University of Southern California

Public Relations and Social Theory Øyvind Ihlen, Magnus Fredriksson, Betteke Van Ruler, 2009-03-30 Public Relations and Social Theory broadens the theoretical scope of public relations through its application of the works of prominent social theorists to the study of public relations The volume focuses on the work of key social theorists including J rgen Habermas Niklas Luhmann Michel Foucault Ulrich Beck Pierre Bourdieu Anthony Giddens Robert Putnam Erving Goffman Peter L Berger Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak Bruno Latour Leon Mayhew Dorothy Smith and Max Weber Unique in its approach the collection demonstrates how the theories of these scholars come to bear on the understanding of public relations as a social activity Understanding public relations in its societal context entails a focus on such concepts as trust legitimacy understanding and reflection as well as on issues of power behavior and language Each chapter is devoted to an individual theorist providing an overview of that theorist s key concepts and contributions and exploring how these concepts can be applied to public relations as a practice

Each chapter also includes a box giving a short and concise presentation of the theorist along with recommendation of key works and secondary literature Overall this volume will enhance understanding of theories and their applications in public relations expanding the breadth and depth of the theoretic foundations of public relations It will be of great interest to scholars and graduate students in public relations and strategic communication

Public Relations in Global Cultural Contexts Nilanjana Bardhan, C. Kay Weaver, 2011-01-31 While public relations practice has become increasingly globalized scholars are still behind in theorizing about the intersections of culture communication and power at this level of practice This volume emphasizes theories and concepts that highlight global interconnectedness through a range of interpretative and critical approaches to understanding the global significance and impacts of public relations Providing a critical examination of public relations contribution to globalization and international power relations the chapters included here explore alternative paradigms most notably interpretive and critical perspectives informed by qualitative research The volume encourages alternative ways of knowing that overcome the shortcomings of positivist epistemologies The editors include multiple paradigmatic approaches for a more complex understanding of the subject matter making a valuable contribution toward widening the philosophical scope of public relations scholarship This book will serve well as a core text in classes in international public relations global public relations and advanced strategic public relations Students as well as practitioners of public relations will benefit from reading the perspectives included here

Mediation, Citizen Empowerment, and Transformational Politics Edward W. Schwerin, 1995-04-30 This provocative book develops empowerment theory in the context of community mediation Schwerin uses a case study of a large urban community mediation program to explore the empowerment concept and to assess widely believed hypotheses about empowerment and community mediation The major contributions of this work to Transformational Politics and the community mediation movement include the development and elaboration of empowerment theory the analysis of mediation ideology mediation training and mediation process and the exploration of the linkage between community mediation and personal and social transformation

No Child Left Behind and the Transformation of Federal Education Policy, 1965-2005 Patrick J. McGuinn, 2006 Education is intimately connected to many of the most important and contentious questions confronting American society from race to jobs to taxes and the competitive pressures of the global economy have only enhanced its significance Elementary and secondary schooling has long been the province of state and local governments but when George W Bush signed into law the No Child Left Behind Act in 2002 it signaled an unprecedented expansion of the federal role in public education This book provides the first balanced in depth analysis of how No Child Left Behind NCLB became law Patrick McGuinn a political scientist with hands on experience in secondary education explains how this happened despite the country s long history of decentralized school governance and the longstanding opposition of both liberals and conservatives to an active reform oriented federal role in schools His book provides the essential political context for understanding NCLB the controversies surrounding its implementation and forthcoming debates over its reauthorization how the struggle to define the federal role in school reform took center stage in debates over the appropriate role of the government in promoting opportunity and social welfare He places the evolution of the federal role in schools within the context of broader institutional ideological and political changes that have swept the nation since the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act chronicles the concerns raised by the 1983 report A Nation at Risk and shows how education became a major campaign issue for both parties in the 1990s McGuinn argues that the emergence of swing issues such as education can facilitate major policy change even as they influence the direction of wider political debates and partisan conflict McGuinn traces the Republican shift from seeking to eliminate the U S Department of Education to embracing federal leadership in school reform then details the negotiations over NCLB the forces that shaped its final provisions and the ways in which the law constitutes a new federal education policy regime against which states have now begun to rebel and that only by understanding the unique dynamics of national education politics will reformers be able to craft a more effective national role in school reform
