Structure Of Sociological Inference:

The Structure of Sociological Inference Wilhelm Baldamus, 1976 Handbook of Causal Analysis for Social Research Stephen L. Morgan, 2013-04-22 What constitutes a causal explanation and must an explanation be causal What warrants a causal inference as opposed to a descriptive regularity What techniques are available to detect when causal effects are present and when can these techniques be used to identify the relative importance of these effects What complications do the interactions of individuals create for these techniques When can mixed methods of analysis be used to deepen causal accounts Must causal claims include generative mechanisms and how effective are empirical methods designed to discover them The Handbook of Causal Analysis for Social Research tackles these questions with nineteen chapters from leading scholars in sociology statistics public health computer science and human development Handbook of Structural Equation Modeling Rick H. Hoyle, 2023-02-17 This accessible volume presents both the mechanics of structural equation modeling SEM and specific SEM strategies and applications The editor along with an international group of contributors and editorial advisory board are leading methodologists who have organized the book to move from simpler material to more statistically complex modeling approaches Sections cover the foundations of SEM statistical underpinnings from assumptions to model modifications steps in implementation from data preparation through writing the SEM report and basic and advanced applications including new and emerging topics in SEM Each chapter provides conceptually oriented descriptions fully explicated analyses and engaging examples that reveal modeling possibilities for use with readers data Many of the chapters also include access to data and syntax files at the companion website allowing readers to try their hands at reproducing the authors results Growth and Structure of the English Language Otto Jespersen, 1905 Essential Statistical Methods for Medical Statistics J. Philip Miller, 2010-11-08 Essential Statistical Methods for Medical Statistics presents only key contributions which have been selected from the volume in the Handbook of Statistics Medical Statistics Volume 27 2009 While the use of statistics in these fields has a long and rich history the explosive growth of science in general and of clinical and epidemiological sciences in particular has led to the development of new methods and innovative adaptations of standard methods This volume is appropriately focused for individuals working in these fields Contributors are internationally renowned experts in their respective areas Contributors are internationally renowned experts in their respective areas Addresses emerging statistical challenges in epidemiological biomedical and pharmaceutical research Methods for assessing Biomarkers analysis of competing risks Clinical trials including sequential and group sequential crossover designs cluster randomized and adaptive designs Structural equations modelling and longitudinal data analysis Latent Variable Modeling and Applications to Causality Maia Berkane, 2012-12-06 This volume gathers refereed papers presented at the 1994 UCLA conference on Latent Variable Modeling and Application to Causality The meeting was organized by the UCLA Interdivisional Program in Statistics with the purpose of bringing together a group of people who have done recent advanced work in this field The papers in this volume are representative of a wide variety of disciplines in which the use of latent variable models is rapidly growing The volume is divided into two broad sections The first section covers Path Models and Causal Reasoning and the papers are innovations from contributors in disciplines not traditionally associated with behavioural sciences e g computer science with Judea Pearl and public health with James Robins Also in this section are contributions by Rod McDonald and Michael Sobel who have a more traditional approach to causal inference generating from problems in behavioural sciences The second section encompasses new approaches to questions of model selection with emphasis on factor analysis and time varying systems Amemiya uses nonlinear factor analysis which has a higher order of complexity associated with the identifiability conditions Muthen studies longitudinal hierarchical models with latent variables and treats the time vector as a variable rather than a level of hierarchy Deleeuw extends exploratory factor analysis models by including time as a variable and allowing for discrete and ordinal latent variables Arminger looks at autoregressive structures and Bock treats factor analysis models for categorical data
