Consciousness in Singapore Leong Yew, 2013-11-20 Over the last two decades Singapore has undergone a substantial degree of Asianization Apart from participating in the Asian values debate of the 1990s re-visioning itself as New Asia and a global Asian hub and establishing Asian identities for the commodities it consumes and produces Singapore has also repurposed its modernity cultures and ethos along similar regionalist precepts However even in recent times Singapore continues to vacillate ambivalently between identifying with and differentiating itself from Asia Responding to the challenges Singapore faces in coming to terms with its Asian identity this book examines the complex cultural social and political underpinnings that have shaped Singapore's mainstream discourse on Asia Indeed it argues that its legacy as a colonial port city the exigencies of managing the post-independence nation state and the larger forces of imperialism and capitalism all contribute to its politics of Asianism Taking a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach that spans history cultural studies postcolonialism and cultural geography Leong Yew reveals how Asia has been used to narrate Singapore's beginnings revalidate Singaporean ethnic culture and to consolidate its practices of consumption and commodification This book will be welcomed by students and scholars working across a range of fields including Asian culture and society Asian politics cultural theory and postcolonial studies Confucianism and Spiritual Traditions in Modern China and Beyond Fenggang

Religious Fundamentalism in the Contemporary World Santosh C. Saha,2004-01-01 Today new and ever more pernicious forms of terrorist violence threaten the world Because these new forms of violence are so often linked to religious radicalism modern terrorism has challenged the secular ethics of contemporary civil society There is a pressing need to understand modern religious movements that have added militancy and belligerence as fundamental elements of religious practice Contributors to this volume painstakingly tackle the question of how to define the contours of current religious fundamentalism as they examine the private and public postures of fundamentalist rhetoric the importance of its regional variants and the damage it can do to regional and national education systems Their analysis tracks trends in religious movements that aspire to radicalize reform and violently topple governments and nations while highlighting the difference between fundamentalist interpretations and other longstanding juridical political and intellectual traditions

Mixed Blessings Amanda Whiting,Carolyn Evans,2006-05-01 The essays in this volume explore some of the diverse and contradictory ways that the lives of women in the Asia Pacific region are shaped by two powerful regimes religion and law and by the interactions between them They show that for women laws customary colonial post independence and international and religions indigenous or introduced Buddhism Christianity Islam and Confucianism have been a mixed blessing These diverse legal systems and religious doctrines and institutions have variously denied women authority and the capacity to participate fully in the public organization of social political and religious life they have furthermore constructed gender and familial relations in ways that subordinate women Yet they have also offered promises of women s empowerment and provided rules and procedures norms values and interpretations of sacred traditions to deliver those emancipatory promises Each chapter is devoted to a single state first the history and current framework of the national legal system is introduced then the place of religion in the state is explained and finally by means of precise and detailed case studies or examples each author explores how these sometimes competing sometimes colluding regimes constructed women and how women interpreted this positioning and sought to resituate themselves
