Blue Hour Carolyn Forché, 2010-08-24 Blue Hour is an elusive book because it is ever in pursuit of what the German poet Novalis called the lost presence beyond appearance The longest poem On Earth is a transcription of mind passing from life into death in the form of an abecedary modeled on ancient gnostic hymns Other poems in the book especially Nocturne and Blue Hour are lyric recoveries of the act of remembering though the objects of memory seem to us vivid and irretrievable the rage to summon and cling at once fierce and distracted The voice we hear in Blue Hour is a voice both very young and very old It belongs to someone who has seen everything and who strives imperfectly desperately to be equal to what she has seen The hunger to know is matched here by a desire to be new totally without cynicism open to the shocks of experience as if perpetually for the first time though unillusioned wise beyond any possible taint of a false or assumed innocence Robert Boyers years prior Jules teeters on the edge of insanity by loving Robert's ghostly presence while Michael tries to keep her feet on the ground. Intense interactions between Jules and Michael fuel Kate's insane jealousy. Surrounded by crimson light, Kate's ghost attempts to kill Jules several times to keep Michael all to herself. Jules must make a choice and risk her life to fight Kate in order to allow Michael into her own while at the same time interacting with Robert's ghost as if he was still human. This story is about giving up something for the one you love and exploring the possibility of the universe supporting more than one soul mate. Good versus evil and love versus hate takes Jules on a journey of surprises, some humorous and some terrifying, but none the less, life-changing.
