Women Globalization And Fragmentation In Developing Countries:

Women, Globalization and Fragmentation in the Developing World H. Afshar, S. Barrientos, 1999-07-05 The process of globalization has had a dramatic impact on the lives of women in developing countries in the past decade They have been increasingly drawn into insecure flexible employment working for the world market The feminisation of the labour market has increased the burdens on women and the inability of men to access full time well remunerated employment has exacerbated the process of male out migration and has left many families headed by women At the same time the reduction in state services and welfare has increased the burdens placed on women Nevertheless the consequences of globalization have been different for different women in different places In some circumstances it has created opportunities for greater empowerment whilst in others it has stimulated a reaction and increased the subordination of women This book explores the experiences of women in diverse local contexts within different cultures and faiths drawing on case studies from Asia Africa and Latin America It draws out the contradictory and fragmented impact of globalization at the local level on the lives of women in the developing world

The Gender Question in Globalization Francien van Driel, 2020-11-25 Orthodox views of globalization assume that it has the same features and impact everywhere i e the feminization of poverty labour and even peace As these ideas circulate in official documents and scientific writings they settle practically as truths This challenging and unique book is amongst the first to deconstruct these orthodoxies using a multi layered gender analysis where globalization is not treated as a linear and top down process with a known outcome and a pre conceived definition of gender Instead the authors scrutinize the dynamics of each context on its own merits including the agency of women and men resulting in unexpected and groundbreaking insights into the variety of differences apparent even in sometimes seemingly similar global processes Through this gender lens different and new meanings of gender appear rooted in multiple modernities The book will be a seminal contribution to debates in the fields of international labour sexuality identity feminism peace studies and migration

Globalizing Women Valentine M. Moghadam, 2021-02-10 Winner of the Victoria Schuck award given by the American Political Science Association and an Honorable Mention in the Distinguished Book Award given by the Political Economy of World Systems section of the American Sociological Association Globalization may offer modern feminism its greatest opportunity and greatest challenge Allowing communication and information exchange while also exacerbating economic and social inequalities globalization has fostered the growth of transnational feminist networks TFNs These groups have used the Internet to build coalitions lobby governments and advance the goals of feminism Globalizing Women explains how the negative and positive aspects of globalization have helped to create transnational networks of activists and organizations with common agendas Sociologist Valentine M Moghadam discusses six such feminist networks to analyze the organization objectives programs and outcomes of these groups in their effort to improve conditions for women throughout the world Moghadam also examines how globalizing women are responding to and resisting growing inequalities the exploitation of female labor and patriarchal fundamentalisms This book is an important addition to literature exploring feminism as well as to the broader discussion of the impact of transnational social movements and organizations in the globalized world

Maternal and Child Health John Ehiri, 2009-10-03 Our current era of globalization war and socioeconomic unrest has revealed public health as a worldwide concern and a major frontier for social justice with maternal and child health at its epicenter Yet there has been a relative scarcity of training resources specifically dedicated to this crucial area Maternal and Child Health Global Challenges Programs and Policies addresses this gap in current knowledge by analyzing the range of socioeconomic and environmental factors health care disparities politics policies and cultural practices that impact the health and safety of mothers as well as the well being and optimum development of their children Individual sections focus on unequal distribution of the world's resources politics and power specific disease concerns programs policies and emerging concerns with a focus on what is currently being done and what needs to be done to improve the health status of women children and adolescents The book's contributors are some of the world's most respected experts carefully selected to represent different global geographic regions and diverse professional disciplines related to maternal and child health from both academic and field practice perspectives Among the topics in this authoritative volume The impact of war globalization gender inequity and harmful traditional practices e.g. female genital mutilation Specific health concerns including tuberculosis malaria HIV and malnutrition Child and adolescent health issues from abuse and neglect to children in difficult circumstances Pregnancy related issues safety abortion and post abortion care teen pregnancy and more Strategies for planning developing and maintaining maternal and child health systems in developing countries The status of global initiatives such as Integrated Management of Childhood Illnesses and the Millennium Development Goals The status of evidence based maternal and child health in the developing world With such a wealth of information on both practical and conceptual levels Maternal and Child Health Global Challenges Programs and Policies is as relevant to students and researchers in the field as it is to policy makers and those working for global health and development organizations It also makes an excellent stand alone text for courses in global health in general and global maternal and child health in particular
