Organic Input Production and Marketing in India Efficiency, Issues and Policies (CMA Publication No. 239) Kumara Charyulu Deevi, Subho Biswas, 2011-07-25 The success of industrial agriculture and the green revolution in recent decades has often masked by significant externalities affecting natural resources and human health as well as agriculture itself Environmental and health problems associated with agriculture have been increasingly well documented but it is only recently that the scale of the costs has attracted the attention of planners and scientists Increasing consciousness about conservation of environment as well as of health hazards caused by agrochemicals has brought a major shift in consumer preference towards food quality This timely book is a one stop resource for agriculturists planners policy makers and other stakeholders who are involved in organic cultivation The findings emanated from this study would be helpful for Ministry of Agriculture organic producers organic input users and other associations involved in organic produce supply chains in the country Sport in Social Development Alan G. Ingham, John W. Loy, 1993 The essays in Sport in social Development examine sport and physical activity in a variety of cultures and historical periods from ancient athletics to rugby in Victorian England to professional team sports in urban America Fifteen contributors use Raymond Williams's themes of dominant residual and emergent cultural practices to examine the interpenetration of sport and social processes New Serial Titles ,1997 A union list of serials commencing publication after Dec 31 1949 The Dollars & Cents of Superstore Centers ,1988 Project Infrastructure Development Handbook ,1989 Builder ,1992 The Directory of Management Consultants, 2003 Kennedy Information (Firm),2002 Dollars & Cents of Fashion Malls ,1988 The Political Economy of City Branding Ari-Veikko Anttiroiko,2014-02-24 Globalization affects urban communities in many ways One of its manifestations is increased intercity competition which compels cities to increase their attractiveness in terms of capital entrepreneurship information expertise and consumption This competition takes place in an asymmetric field with cities trying to find the best possible ways of using their natural and created assets the latter including a naturally evolving reputation or consciously developed competitive identity or brand The Political Economy of City Branding discusses this phenomenon from the perspective of numerous post industrial cities in North America Europe East Asia and Australasia Special attention is given to local economic development policy and industrial profiling and global city rankings are used to provide empirical evidence for cities characteristics and positions in the global urban hierarchy On top of this social and urban challenges such as creative class struggle are also discussed The core message of the book is that cities should apply the tools of city branding in their industrial promotion and specialization but at the same time take into account the special nature of their urban communities and be open and inclusive in their brand policies in order to ensure optimal results This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners working in the areas of local economic development urban planning public management and branding
