Urban Futures:

Urban Futures Mark Burry, 2020-07-09 Given the rapid evolution of concepts such as smart cities who are the architects riding the wave of new possibilities for urban design How do contemporary agencies find pathways to understand the challenges and opportunities presented by evolving urban technology and how does architecture engage with the expanding pool of associated disciplines How should schools of architecture and urban design engage with radical digitalised urbanism This issue of AD claims that this is contested territory The two dimensionality of planners urban construct is as limited as engineers predilection to zero in and solve problems Urban Futures contends that society needs a much broader professional brush than has been applied in the past interdisciplinary urban design professionals who can reach across the philosophy and mundanity of urban existence with a creative eye The issue identifies a selection of internally resourceful visionaries who combine sociology geography logistics and systems theory with the practical realities and challenges of mobility sustainable materials food water and energy supply and waste disposal Crucially they seek to ensure better urban futures and a civil and convivial urban experience for all city dwellers Contributors Refik Anadol Philip Belesky Shajay Bhooshan Jane Burry and Marcus White Thomas Daniell Vicente Guallart Shan He Wanyu He Dan Hill Justyna Karakiewicz Tom Kvan Areti Markopoulou Ed Parham Carlo Ratti Ferran Sagarra and Bige Tun er Featured architects Arup Digital Studio Guallart Architects Space10 Space Syntax UNStudio and XKool Technology Urban Futures Timothy J. Dixon, Mark Tewdwr-Jones, 2023-10-17 This book explores the history and evolution of city visions placing them in the wider context of art culture science foresight and urban theory Resilient Urban Futures Zoé A. Hamstead, David M. Iwaniec, Timon McPhearson, Marta Berbés-Blázquez, Elizabeth M. Cook, Tischa A. Muñoz-Erickson, 2021-04-06 This open access book addresses the way in which urban and urbanizing regions profoundly impact and are impacted by climate change The editors and authors show why cities must wage simultaneous battles to curb global climate change trends while adapting and transforming to address local climate impacts This book addresses how cities develop anticipatory and long range planning capacities for more resilient futures earnest collaboration across disciplines and radical reconfigurations of the power regimes that have institutionalized the disenfranchisement of minority groups Although planning processes consider visions for the future the editors highlight a more ambitious long term positive visioning approach that accounts for unpredictability system dynamics and equity in decision making This volume brings the science of urban transformation together with practices of professionals who govern and manage our social ecological and technological systems to design processes by which cities may achieve resilient urban futures in the face of climate change Decolonising Feminist Explorations of Urban Futures Linda Peake, Nasya S. Razavi, Grace Adeniyi-Ogunyankin, Elsa Koleth, 2025-12-26 How do decolonial feminist urban imaginaries of urban futures begin to interrogate twenty first century urban life The urban futures signaled by the chapters in this book highlight overlapping dimensions of urban imaginaries capitalism temporality and the everyday While the first dimension connects the privatisation and commodification of urban infrastructures to the realisation of state based and capitalist discursive efforts to make the urban the second dimension concerns temporal convergences of past present and future in visions of the urban It is in these convergences that the recursive logics of coloniality are reproduced in re mappings of the landscapes of urban inequality and dispossession through which encounters between historical sedimentations of colonial relations and emergent neo colonial formations take place Third authors take up the everyday as a site of struggle through which women s negotiations and placemaking practices offer alternative decolonial urban imaginaries The book is based on papers given at the Feminist Explorations of Urban Futures conference held in September 2019 at York University in Toronto Canada organised by the transnational feminist research project Urbanisation Gender and the Global South A Transformative Knowledge Network GenUrb It was originally published as a special issue of Urban Geography Urban Futures Nabeel Hamdi,Jane Handal,2005 This book explores and sets out methodologies for understanding qualitatively the dynamics of poverty and urban development Organized into three parts the book adopts as its principal theme poverty and the eradication of extreme poverty Urban Futures Idea Exchange ,1982 Urban Futures Timothy J. Dixon,Mark Tewdwr-Jones,2021-05-19 Winner of the 2022 Urban Affairs Association Best Book Award City visions represent shared and often desirable expectations about our urban futures This book explores the history and evolution of city visions placing them in the wider context of art culture science foresight and urban theory It highlights and critically reviews examples of city visions from around the world contrasting their development and outlining the key benefits and challenges in planning such visions The authors show how important it is to think about the future of cities in objective and strategic ways engaging with a range of stakeholders something more important than ever as we look to visions of a sustainable future beyond the COVID 19 crisis Three Solar Urban Futures Murray Milne,Marvin Adelson,Ruthann Corwin,1979 Urban Futures--a Vision for Centre City East ,1994 Urban Futures Observed, in the Asian Third World Richard L. examples of how ecologically and socially responsible urban and sustainable development planning and policy approaches have been successfully implemented in cities around the world The book is especially effective in its emphasis on recently published statistics and writing supporting new planning and policy recommendations Each chapter ends with a summary accompanied by a list of questions that can be addressed with information provided in the text

Urban Future Manifestos Peter Noever, Kimberli Meyer, 2010 Calls upon leading creative thinkers to address urgent questions about the future of the contemporary city Contributing architects artists designers and urban scholars from around the globe consider the city from a variety of positions and posit their unique and inspiring visions Page 4 of cover

Our Urban Future Akhtar Badshah, 1996 In recent years new approaches to urban planning and development have generated some optimism that the failure of earlier strategies to address the overwhelming problems entailed can be overcome The author seeks out those innovative approaches that have actually worked in various large cities in India Pakistan Egypt Indonesia and elsewhere He identifies effective urban practices that are socially equitable ecologically sustainable economically viable and replicable All of them share a commitment to the genuine participation of the poor in the urban development process starting right from the planning and design stages

Adapt du r sum de l diteur Urban Futures Tim Hall, Malcolm Miles, 2004-11-23 Urban Futures brings together commentaries from a wide range of contemporary disciplines and fields relevant to urban culture form and society The book concerns cities in the broadest sense not just as buildings and spaces but also as processes and events or sites of occupation in which meanings are constructed in many ways The contributors draw on their specialist areas of research to inform current debate but they also speculate as to how cities will be shaped in the 21st century Specific areas of research include homeless people s organisations and restoration ecology in brownfield sites in the USA post industrial urban landscapes post industrial economics tourism and cultural planning The book allows each writer to state their own conclusions but together they suggest that tomorrow s cities will while remaining locations of difference and contestation be rapidly evolving systems in which dwellers assume increasing responsibilities and power

Art, Space and the City Malcolm Miles, 2005-08-16 Public art the making management and mediation of art outside its conventional location in museums and galleries and the livable city a concept involving user centred strategies for urban planning and design are both socially produced but have emerged from different fields and tend to be discussed in isolation This book applies a range of critical perspectives which have emerged from different disciplines art criticism urban design urban sociology geography and critical theory to examine the practice of art for urban public spaces seeing public art from positions outside those of the art world to ask how it might contribute to possible urban futures Exploring the diversity of urban politics the functions of public space and its relation to the structures of power the roles of professionals and users in the construction of the city the gendering of space and the ways in which space and citizen are represented the book explains how these issues are as relevant to architecture urban design and urban planning as they are to public art Drawing on a wealth of images from across the UK and Europe and the USA in particular the author questions the effectiveness of public art in achieving more convivial urban environments whilst retaining the idea that imagining possible futures is as much part of a democratic society as using public space

Metro Futures Dan Luria, 1999-11-10 The future of America is the future of our cities Restoring their health and wealth is the key to advancing racial justice to raising and equalizing wages to promoting equal opportunity to saving our environment I urge you to read and consider Metro Futures The Reverend Jesse L Jackson Sr from the Foreword Metro Futures shifts the discussion of urban issues from despair over inner city problems to solutions that link urban and suburban well being With its specific state and federal policy recommendations Metro Futures offers timely hope for meaningful change The New Democracy Forum series is a civic treasure A truly good idea carried out with intelligence and panache Robert Pinsky The New Democracy Forum is a series of short paperback originals exploring creative solutions to our most urgent national concerns
