The Apes Reflexion:

The Ape's Reflexion Adrian J. Desmond, 1980-01 'Language' and Intelligence in Monkeys and Apes Sue Taylor Parker, Kathleen Rita Gibson, 1994-01-28 This is the first collection of articles completely and explicitly devoted to the new field of comparative developmental evolutionary psychology that is to studies of primate abilities based on frameworks drawn from developmental psychology and evolutionary biology These frameworks include Piagetian and neo Piagetian models as well as psycholinguistic ones The articles in this collection originating in Japan Spain Italy France Canada and the United States represent a variety of backgrounds in human and nonhuman primate research including psycholinguistics developmental psychology cultural and physical anthropology ethology and comparative psychology The book focuses on such areas as the nature of culture intelligence language and imitation the differences among species in mental abilities and developmental patterns and the evolution of life histories and of mental abilities and their neurological bases The species studied include the African grey parrot cebus and macaque monkeys gorillas orangutans and both common and pygmy chimpanzees Advances in the Study of Behavior ,1982-08-18 Advances in the Study of Behavior The Mentalities of Gorillas and Orangutans Sue Taylor Parker, Robert W. Mitchell, H. Lyn Miles, 1999-08-26 Research on the mental abilities of chimpanzees and bonobos has been widely celebrated and used in reconstructions of human evolution In contrast less attention has been paid to the abilities of gorillas and orangutans This 1999 volume aims to help complete the picture of hominoid cognition by bringing together the work on gorillas and orangutans and setting it in comparative perspective The introductory chapters set the evolutionary context for comparing cognition in gorillas and orangutans to that of chimpanzees bonobos and humans The remaining chapters focus primarily on the kinds and levels of intelligence displayed by orangutans and gorillas compared to other great apes including performances in the classic domains of tool use and tool making imitation self awareness social communication and symbol use All those wanting more information on the mental abilities of these sometimes neglected but important primates will find this book a treasure trove Biology as Society, Society as Biology: Metaphors Sabine Maasen, E. Mendelsohn, P. Weingart, 2013-12-01 not lie in the conceptual distinctions but in the perceived functions of metaphors and whether in the concrete case they are judged positive or negative The ongoing debates reflect these concerns quite clearly namely that metaphors are judged on the basis of supposed dangers they pose and opportunities they offer These are the criteria of evaluation that are obviously dependent on the context in which the transfer of meaning occurs Our fundamental concern is indeed the transfer itself its prospects and its limits Looking at possible functions of metaphors is one approach to understanding and elucidating sentiments about them The papers in this volume illustrate by quite different examples three basic functions of metaphors illustrative heuristic and constitutive These functions represent different degrees of transfer of meaning Metaphors are illustrative when they are used primarily as a literary device to increase the power of conviction of an argument for example Although the difference between the illustrative and the heuristic function of metaphors is not great it does exist metaphors are used for heuristic purposes whenever differences of meaning are employed to open new perspectives and to gain new insights In the case of constitutive metaphors they function to actually replace previous meanings by new ones Sabine Maasen in her paper introduces the distinction between transfer and transformation Comparing Behavior D. W. Rajecki, 2014-05-22 First published in 1983 The aim of this book was to get a sense of how scientists viewed their own comparative domain Using references from a variety of fields including anthropology ethology genetics philosophy psychology and zoology It includes a diversity of approaches for discussion on how to compare behavior The Language Gap Clifford A. Wilson, Donald W. McKeon, 1984

Encounters with Wild Children Adriana S. Benzaquén, 2006-04-05 Through detailed readings of a wide variety of accounts debates and representations Encounters with Wild Children explores the many different meanings these children were given and the varied responses they elicited Adriana Benzaquén explains why wild children continue to haunt and fascinate Western scientists and shows how the knowledge they have generated in different disciplines including anthropology psychology psychiatry pedagogy linguistics and sociology has contributed to the shaping and reshaping of the modern understanding of the child and affected the social and institutional practices directed at all children in schools welfare mental health and the law The Bookseller, 1979 The Pinnacle of Life Derek A. Denton, 1994 The Dolittle Obsession Michael Bright, 1990 Semiotica, 1982 Understanding Human Behavior James V. McConnell, 1983

Beyond Boundaries Barbara Noske, 1997 Beyond Boundaries steps out into hitherto unknown territory in taking an interdisciplinary approach to the subject of animals the author criticizes the biological determinism characteristic of many biologists as well as the anthropocentrism of many environmentalists and greens who fail to see domestic animals or even humans as part of nature Vast in its scope and vision this book synthesizes an array of disparate research and scholarship and in doing so exposes the tensions and inconsistencies in the view of animals in different areas of Western thought A project of such breadth is unprecedented and there is no existing conceptual structure for a work of this kind it is certain to spark a furor of philosophical debate Anthropos, 1982 Bibliographie Internationale D'anthropologie Sociale Et Culturelle, 1981 Art in the Medieval West and Its Audience Madeline Harrison Caviness, 2001 In this highly illustrated volume Madeline H Caviness explores a set of issues that have concerned art historians in relation to medieval works of art questions of patronage and viewing community formal and aesthetic codes and modern reception history Two studies examine ways in which Neoplatonic and Aristotelian tenets informed different modes of representation and the visionary mode is later addressed in the context of the works of Hildegard of Bingen Hildegard's authorship and patronage is also the focus of two essays in a section dealing with women's roles in the arts of the high middle ages especially as book owners Revisionist pieces include four articles on the aesthetic and political factors that impacted on the modern formation of a canon of medieval works in Europe and the United States while another evaluates selected medieval works in relation to modern definitions of obscenity A number of these studies represent important steps toward Caviness's current feminist readings of medieval culture The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1983 Barks, Roars, and Siren Songs Michael Bright, 1991 This book looks at remarkable scientific discoveries about the ways animals communicate with each other and with us Jahresbericht, 1999
