Drum Leo Tolstoy,2015-12-27 The Empty Drum is a short story by Russian writer Leo Tolstoy A man took a woman for his wife that the king of the country had an eye on So the king decided to overwork the man till he died so he could then marry his wife But each time the man completed his task on time Even when the tasks were impossible like building a cathedral in a day or a river with ships in it by nightfall his wife assured him it would be done and it was as she said But then the King came up with an extraordinary task He asked the man to go there don t know where and bring that don t know what      Iwain Arthur Charles Lewis Brown,George Lyman Kittredge,1903      Japanese Cinema and Otherness Mika Ko,2013-05-13 Over the last 20 years ethnic minority groups have been increasingly featured in Japanese Films However the way these groups are presented has not been a subject of investigation This study examines the representation of so called Others foreigners ethnic minorities and Okinawans in Japanese cinema By combining textual and contextual analysis this book analyses the narrative and visual style of films of contemporary Japanese cinema in relation to their social and historical context of production and reception Mika Ko considers the ways in which multicultural sentiments have emerged in contemporary Japanese cinema In this respect Japanese films may be seen not simply to have reflected more general trends within Japanese society but to have played an active role in constructing and communicating different versions of multiculturalism In particular the book is concerned with how representations of otherness in contemporary Japanese cinema may be identified as reinforcing or subverting dominant discourses of Japaneseness the author book also illuminates the ways in which Japanese films have engaged in the dramatisation and elaboration of ideas and attitudes surrounding contemporary Japanese nationalism and multiculturalism By locating contemporary Japanese cinema in a social and political context Japanese Cinema and Otherness makes an original contribution to scholarship on Japanese film study but also to bridging the gap between Japanese studies and film studies      Delhi J. D. Beglar,1874      The Jātaka Edward Byles Cowell,1907      *The
