Urbanization Mediterranean:

Urbanization in the Mediterranean in the 9th to 6th Centuries BC Helle Damgaard Andersen, 1997 This volume from the Acta Hyperborea series of archaeological studies covers the topic of urbanization in the Mediterranean in the 9th to 6th centuries BC Acta Hyperborea is a periodical by a group of classical archaeologists associated with Danish universities and museums Although primarily a journal of classical archaeology it also covers other fields in classical scholarship One of the main objectives of the periodical is the interdisciplinary approach to promote a dialogue between historians philologists and archaeologists

Mediterranean Urbanization 800-600 BC Robin Osborne, Barry Cunliffe, British Academy, 2005-10-27 Urban life as we know it in the Mediterranean began in the early Iron Age settlements of great size and internal diversity appear in the archaeological record This collection of essays offers for the first time a systematic discussion of the beginnings of urbanization across the Mediterranean from Cyprus through Greece and Italy to France and Spain Leading scholars in the field look critically at what is meant by urbanization and analyse the social processes that lead to the development of social complexity and the growth of towns The introduction to the volume focuses on the history of the archaeology of urbanization and argues that proper understanding of the phenomenon demands loose and flexible criteria for what is termed a town The following eight chapters examine the development of individual settlements and patterns of urban settlement in Cyprus Greece Etruria Latium southern Italy Sardinia southern France and Spain These chapters not only provide a general review of current knowledge of urban settlements of this period but also raise significant issues of urbanization and the economy urbanization and political organization and of the degree of regionalism and diversity to be found within individual towns The three analytical chapters which conclude this collection look more broadly at the town as a cultural phenomenon that has to be related to wider cultural trends as an economic phenomenon that has to be related to changes in the Mediterranean economy and as a dynamic phenomenon not merely a point on the map Wide ranging in its geographical coverage this volume will be essential reading for scholars and students of archaeology settlement studies the archaic period and geographers interested in the history of urban forms

The Mediterranean City in Transition Lila Leontidou, 1990-04-26 Postwar capitalist development has involved a transition from polarization toward diffuse urbanization and flexibility The timing and form of this transition and its effects on spatial structures have varied as is especially evident in the case of Mediterranean Europe Focusing upon Greater Athens between 1948 and 1981 the crucial period of the transition Lila Leontidou explores the role of social classes in urban development

Making Cities Margarita Gleba, Beatriz Marín-Aguilera, Bela Dimova, 2021 Large and complex settlements appeared across the north Mediterranean during the period 1000 500 bc from the Aegean basin to Iberia as well as north of the Alps The region also became considerably more interconnected Urban life and networks fostered new consumption practices requiring different economic and social structures to sustain them This book considers the emergence of cities in Mediterranean Europe with a focus on the economy

What was distinctive about urban lifeways across the Mediterranean How did different economic activities interact and how did they transform power hierarchies How was urbanism sustained by economic structures social relations and mobility The authors bring to the debate recently excavated sites and regions that may be unfamiliar to wider especially Anglophone scholarship alongside fresh reappraisals of well known cities The variety of urban life economy and local dynamics prompts us to reconsider ancient urbanism through a comparative perspective Ad Hoc Urban Sprawl in the Mediterranean City Vittorio Gargiulo Morelli, Luca Salvati, 2010 Strategic Management of Sustainable Urban Development Sabato Vinci, Luca Salvati, 2022-09-01 If we assume recession as being the starting point for policy challenges then we can interpret these economic downturns as opportunities for change and the reshaping of society landscapes and the latent mechanisms of growth This book illustrates different aspects of local strategic development introducing a novel interpretation of the intimate relationship between demographic and economic aspects in complex socio environmental systems A specific approach investigating the mechanisms of local development cultural and environmental values within a strategic territorial vision is proposed Coming from and appealing to diverse academic backgrounds our book address paradigmatic visions about regional and urban dynamics focusing on landscape transformations and socioeconomic disparities Technical topics discussed in the book include Urban management Metropolitan governance Landscape Spatial planning Applied economics Regional demography The Urbanisation of Rome and Latium Vetus Francesca Fulminante, 2014-02-10 This book focuses on urbanization and state formation in middle Tyrrhenian Italy during the first millennium BC by analyzing settlement organization and territorial patterns in Rome and Latium vetus from the Bronze Age to the Archaic Era In contrast with the traditional diffusionist view which holds that the idea of the city was introduced to the West via Greek and Phoenician colonists from the more developed Near East this book demonstrates important local developments towards higher complexity dating to at least the beginning of the Early Iron Age if not earlier By adopting a multidisciplinary and multi theoretical framework this book overcomes the old debate between exogenous and endogenous by suggesting a network approach that sees Mediterranean urbanization as the product of reciprocal catalyzing actions Human Settlement Development - Volume II Saskia Sassen, 2009-09-30 Human Settlement Development is a component of Encyclopedia of Institutional and Infrastructural Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias The Theme on Human Settlement Development deals in nine parts and four volumes with a myriad of issues of great relevance to our world such as Urban Sustainability and the Regional City System in the Asia Pacific Peri Urbanization Zones of Rural Urban Transition Urban Sustainability Theoretical Perspectives on Integrating Economic Development and the Environment Rural Sustainability Using Foreign Direct Investment to Improve Urban Environmental Infrastructure and Services The Case of Hanoi Vietnam The Long Road Towards Sustainable Cities The Dutch case Urban Dimensions of Sustainable Development Rural Development Participation and Diversity for Sustainability
