Development of Tense and Aspect Systems Jadranka Gvozdanović,2022-08-04 Linguistic construal of time lies at the center of language and language use it is also one of the cognitive foundations of culture The focus of the papers in this volume is on historical developments of genetically different aspect and tense systems across continents with contributions on the Sogeram languages of Papua New Guinea the Arandic languages of Australia Kisikongo Bantu and Japanese In addition two prototypical Indo European tense aspect systems those of Vedic and Latin are analyzed in a comparative perspective Across language groups and continents the general principles revealed by the studies presented here contribute towards a novel and deepening understanding of tense and aspect They contribute not only to modelling and theory but also to a better understanding of processes in individual languages Originally published as special issue of the Journal of Historical Linguistics 10 2 2020 Tense and Aspect Systems Östen Dahl,1985

Ronan,2016-03-02 Document from the year 2000 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics University of Marburg language English abstract This study investigates the tense and aspect systems in use in Irish English which is also called Hiberno English Against the background of previous research corpus material mainly consisting of Dublin English is discussed The corpus consists of close to a quarter of a million words collected manually mainly from written text with some additional examples from participant observation In addition to investigating the tense and aspect forms in use possibilities for the geneses of the categories are discussed and the potential influence from Early Modern English and Late Modern English is assessed as well as the potential input from the Irish language It is suggested that the tense system corresponds to that of Standard British English whereas the aspectual system differs to varying degrees in perfect progressive and habitual marking It is further argued that the majority of the specially used aspectual categories in Hiberno English could have been influenced in their development by influence from both the Irish language i e Gaelic and by influence from earlier British English language structures which were in use during the formative stages of the variety This is not the case for the distinctive Hiberno English after perfect however which is entirely modeled on a corresponding Irish language structure The Tense-mood-aspect System of Biblical Hebrew, with Special Emphasis on 1 & 2 Samuel Susan Rattray,1992 The Creation of Tense and Aspect Systems in the Languages of the World Joan L. informing specialists about Japanese dialectology's methods and achievements. It focuses on mainland dialects including the Hachij language while a separate handbook covers the Ryukyuan languages now regarded as sister languages of Japanese.

Introduction to Indo-European Linguistics Oswald Szemerényi, Oswald John Louis Szemerényi, 1999. Professor Szemerényi's Einführung in die vergleichende Sprachwissenschaft first published in 1970 remains the standard introduction to comparative Indo-European linguistics. Updated and revised for its English translation it appears here in a new paperback format. The introductory section presents a general survey of the principles of diachronic comparative linguistics and the remainder of the book is a thorough and detailed analysis according to those principles of the phonological and morphological structure of the Indo-European group of languages. Each section of the book has a detailed bibliography so that the student can progress from the general overview to a more detailed examination of particular topics. Over the past few decades the book series Linguistische Arbeiten Linguistic Studies comprising over 500 volumes has made a significant contribution to the development of linguistic theory both in Germany and internationally. The series will continue to deliver new impulses for research and maintain the central insight of linguistics that progress can only be made in acquiring new knowledge about human languages both synchronically and diachronically by closely combining empirical and theoretical analyses. To this end we invite submission of high quality linguistic studies from all the central areas of general linguistics and the linguistics of individual languages which address topical questions, discuss new data and advance the development of linguistic theory. Special Issue Jadranka Gvozdanović, 2020 An Analysis of Tense and Aspect in Chasu Abel Yamwaka Mreta, 1998 Austronesian and Other Languages of the Pacific and South-East Asia William George Coppel, 1981
