

Writing Stages

Beginning Writer	Early Writer	Developing Writer	Moderately Fluent Writer	Fluent Writer	Exceptionally Fluent Writer
Your child dictates their own sentences or stories. Your child may have some strategies for writing independently (drawing, writing, copying, inventing own code, but still at an early stage of understanding how language is written down). Your child needs a lot of support with writing.	Your child is gaining confidence in using writing for a range of personal purposes (messages, sentences, and stories). Children draw on their experiences of seeing language written down. They have an understanding of letters and letter sounds. Children are ready to try writing independently using a few early strategies for spelling (initial letters, some known words, and using letter strings). Children's writing can be read back more consistently.	Children can use a range of writing: letters, lists, and stories. But they still need help with extending and developing their writing. Children draw on models from reading in structuring their own writing. Children can read back their own writing consistently. They are experimenting with punctuation and developing strategies for spelling (known words, phonics, and spelling strategies). Children's writing can be read by others.	Children are writing more confidently and developing ideas at greater length. Children are willing to experiment with a wider range of writing. They are beginning to use punctuation to support meaning. Children are drawing on a wider range of strategies in spelling (awareness of visual patterns as well as phonetically based spellings, high frequency words, and higher spelling strategies are used).	Children are growing independent in using writing for a wide range of purposes; expressive, informational, and imaginative. They are aware of different audiences and beginning to shape texts for a reader. Children choose to write over longer periods of time. They are punctuating their writing for meaning more consistently. Their writing shows increasing attention to the visual patterns in spelling.	Your child is a confident and independent writer who enjoys writing in different genres and is developing a personal voice. Their writing may show influences of texts that have been reading. Children are drawing on a range of effective strategies for spelling. They are using written language in a deliberate way and making meaning explicit. They are producing long pieces of writing and expressing complex subjects and meanings in their work.
