Stalking Elijah:

Stalking Elijah Rodger Kamenetz, 1997 Winner of the 1997 National Jewish Book Award for Jewish Thought Stalking Elijah traces Rodger Kamenetz's rollicking and profound cross country journey in search of the great teachers revitalizing Judaism today

The Mystical Exodus in Jungian Perspective Shoshana Fershtman, 2021-04-07 The Mystical Exodus in Jungian Perspective explores the soul loss that results from personal collective and transgenerational trauma and the healing that unfolds through reconnection with the sacred Personal narratives of disconnection from and reconnection to Jewish collective memory are illuminated by millennia of Jewish mystical wisdom contemporary Jewish Renewal and feminist theology and Jungian and trauma theory The archetypal resonance of the Exodus story guides our exploration Understanding exile as disconnection from the Divine Self we follow Moses keeper of the spiritual fire and Serach bat Asher preserver of ancestral memory We encounter the depths with Joseph touch collective grief with Lilith experience the Red Sea crossing and Miriam's well as psychological rebirth and Sinai as the repatterning of traumatized consciousness Tracing the reawakening of the qualities of eros and relatedness on the journey out of exile the book demonstrates how restoring and deepening relationship with the Sacred Feminine helps us to transform collective trauma This text will be key reading for scholars of Jewish studies Jungian and post Jungian studies feminist spirituality trauma studies Jungian analysts and psychotherapists and those interested in healing from personal and collective trauma Cover art Radiance by Elaine Greenwood

Reframing Her Judith E. McKinlay, 2004 How does one read the story of Sarah and Hagar or Jezebel and Rahab today if one is a woman reader situated in a postcolonial society This is the question undergirding this work which considers a selection of biblical texts in which women have significant roles Employing both a gender and a postcolonial lens it asks sharp questions both of the interests embedded in the texts themselves and of their impact upon contemporary women readers Whereas most postcolonial studies have been undertaken from the perspective of the colonized this work reads the texts from the position of a settler descendant and is an attempt to engage with the disquietening and challenging questions that reading from such a location raises Letters from early settler women in New Zealand contemporary fiction and personal reminiscence become tools for the task complementing those traditionally employed in critical biblical readings

Dream Logic Rodger Kamenetz, 2020-03-05 I found that the challenge of precisely recording my dreams over the past fifteen years prompted the need to find a poetic language adequate to the actual encounters in the dream This is very different from making a smooth narrative or interpretation that ends up obscuring the dream The challenge is to feel the image and then let the words arise from a deep enough place to respond I found that certain nights or early mornings as I slipped out of dream mind to record a dream I felt an impulse to write a poem instead And that is how Yonder my first book in this series of works of mine and now Dream Logic was born I was still engaged with images moving in me but now they were entering the space of the page or more precisely the space of the iPhone notes Although awake I was also still writing in the perfume of the dream and carried along by that feeling the language arose often full of imagery and eliding any secular logic Rodger Kamenetz
