Strange Places Questionable People:

Strange Places, Questionable People John Simpson, 2009-09-30 For over thirty years John Simpson has travelled the world to report on the most significant events of our time From being punched in the stomach by Harold Wilson on one of his first days as a reporter to escaping summary execution in Beirut flying into Teheran with the returning Ayatollah Khomeini and narrowly avoiding entrapment by a beautiful Czech secret agent Simpson has had an astonishingly eventful career In 1989 he witnessed the Tiananmen Square massacre the fall of the Berlin Wall and the collapse of Communism throughout Eastern Europe and only weeks later in South Africa the release of Nelson Mandela With Simpson's uncanny knack of being in the right place at the right time this autobiography is a ring side seat at every major event in recent global history So vivid I could feel my heart beating Jonathan Mirsky Spectator great stories sometimes harrowing sometimes hilarious Daily Telegraph

Strange Places Questionable People John Simpson, 1999-10 Strange Places, Questionable People John Simpson, 1998 In this autobiography BBC foreign news editor John Simpson reflects on his career His experiences range from being punched in the stomach by Harold Wilson posing as a mercenary in Zaire escaping summary execution in Beirut to tangling with the cocaine barons of Colombia

We Chose to Speak of War and Strife John Simpson, 2016-10-06 From distinguished foreign correspondent John Simpson a fascinating history of what it is to risk life and limb to bring home news of the troubled world Great stories sometimes harrowing sometimes hilarious Telegraph In corners of the globe where fault lines seethe into bloodshed and civil war foreign correspondents have for hundreds of years been engaged in uncovering the latest news and despite obstacles bureaucratic political violent reporting it by whatever means available It's a working life that is difficult exciting and undeniably glamorous We Chose to Speak of War and Strife brings us pivotal moments in our history from the Crimean War to Vietnam the siege of Sarajevo to the fall of Baghdad through the eyes of those who risked life and limb to witness them first hand and the astonishing tales of what it took to report them These stories celebrate an endangered tradition Where once despatches were trusted to the hands of a willing sea captain telegraph operator or stranger in an airport queue prepared to spirit a can of undeveloped film back to London today the digital realm has transformed the relaying of the news even if the work of gathering it in the field has changed little Weaving the tales of the greats of yesterday and today such as Martha Gellhorn Ernest Hemingway Don McCullin and Marie Colvin with extraordinary accounts from his own lifetime on the frontlines this is a deeply personal book from a master of the profession the most distinguished foreign correspondent of our time

A New History of War Reporting Kevin Williams, 2019-12-23 This book takes a fresh look at the history of war reporting to understand how new technology new ways of waging war and new media conditions are changing the role and work of today's war correspondent Focussing on the mechanics of war reporting and the logistical and institutional pressures on correspondents the book further examines the role of war propaganda accreditation and news management in shaping the evolution of the specialism Previously neglected conflicts and correspondents are reclaimed and wars considered as key moments in the history of war reporting such as the Crimean War 1854-56 and the Great War 1914-18 are re-evaluated. The use of objectivity as the yardstick by which to assess the performance of war correspondents is questioned. The emphasis is instead placed on war as a messy business which confronts reporters and photographers with conditions that challenge the norms of professional practice. References to the demise of the war correspondent have accompanied the growth of the specialism since the days of William Howard Russell the so-called father of war reporting. This highlights the fragile nature of this sub-genre of journalism and emphasises that continuity as much as change characterises the work of the war correspondent. A thematically organised, historically rich introduction. This book is ideal for students of journalism, media and communication. Manchester Memoirs, 1999

Censored, 1999 Books Out Loud, 2007 Book Review Index, 2000 Every 3rd issue is a quarterly cumulation

Who's Who in the Media, 2006 A brand new guide to Who's Who in the media researched and compiled by the team responsible for the Media Directory. This companion title contains in depth profiles of the UK's top 1000 movers and shakers in the media industry. The most influential men and women in journalism, PR, marketing, newspapers, magazines, film, radio and TV give in their own words a thumbnail sketch of their career, highlights, big breaks, mentors and mistakes as well as what they read, watch, listen to and relax with. The guide also gives contact details including phone numbers and email addresses.

Property of Communists Mark B. Smith, 2010 This groundbreaking book's analysis of the dual impact of World War II and the death of Stalin on the USSR, its reappraisal of the status of property and ownership in the first communist society and its anchoring in comparative history will appeal to a broad audience of scholars and students of European and Soviet history. A like Book Jacket Current Contents, 1999 Dangerous Lives Anthony Feinstein, 2003 Dr Anthony Feinstein, a world-renowned neuropsychiatrist, initiated the first ever study of the effects of trauma on war journalists, interviewing dozens of the world's most accomplished correspondents.

The Balkans and the West Andrew Hammond, 2004 This timely collection investigates how the Balkans and the West have constructed each other since 1945. Scholars from both sections of the continent explore a wide variety of fiction, film, journalism, travel writing and diplomatic records both to analyse Western European balkanism and to study Balkan representations of the West over the last fifty years. This dual emphasis exposes the representational practices that help to maintain a deeply divided Europe and challenges the economic and political injustices that result. Despite the rise of postcolonialist analyses of global inequality, the current crises in many parts of South East Europe have received scant attention in literary and cultural studies. The Balkans and the West addresses this deficiency. Ranging in focus from Serbian cinema to Romanian travel literature, from Western economic writings to Yugoslav fiction and from public discourse in Albania to NATO's vast propaganda machine, the essays offer wide insight into representation and power in the contemporary European context. Degraded Capability Philip Hammond, Edward S. Herman, 2000-05-20

Required reading for anyone wishing to understand the war and the media's role in it. The New Internationalist

Splendid! Splendid! Mark Garnett, Ian Aitken, 2002 Willie Whitelaw 1918-99 was one of the most popular politicians of recent times. During a career lasting half a century he made friends everywhere among allies and opponents, officials who worked with him and the general public. Yet Whitelaw was deeply involved in policies which have caused lasting bitterness. As the first Secretary of State for Northern Ireland 1972-3 he forged a political settlement which collapsed when angry Protestant workers brought Ulster to a standstill. During his time as Home Secretary 1979-83 he faced an outbreak of rioting which spread throughout England. As Margaret Thatcher's loyal lieutenant he lent crucial support to economic measures which helped to provoke this unprecedented disorder. The story of Whitelaw's life explains much about changes in the party he served and the country he loved. Splendid Splendid unlike his own 1989 memoirs tells the whole story. Written with his full co-operation it reveals the man behind the affable public persona. It is a portrait of a unique individual: shrewd, good-natured, public-spirited and loyal. At the same time it discloses his flaws: his explosive temper, his love of intrigue and his anxiety.

The Middle East, Abstracts and Index, 2006      The Debated Lands Andrew Hammond, 2007 A volume focusing on the popular genre of travel writing, the book examines over 400 British and American literary texts in order to outline and account for the multiple ways in which the Balkans have been represented from the mid-nineteenth century to the present day.

Writing on the Move W. D. Redfern, 2004 Albert Londres 1884-1932 was a much translated French investigative journalist whose journalistic coverage and themes were wide-ranging. This study compares and contrasts Londres' work with that of other globe-trotting reporters from France, Britain and the USA who deal with history in the making.

How Not to Say what You Mean R. W. Holder, 2007 This brand new edition celebrating 20 years of R. W. Holder's popular and successful dictionary of euphemisms is packed full of traditional favourites such as Dutch uncle or push up the daisies as well as euphemisms from the contemporary world such as restructuring and extrajudicial killing. Definitions include examples from real authors along with entertaining explanations of their origins. To prove that the use of euphemisms is not just a British speciality there is widespread coverage of American euphemisms too for example English pertaining to sexual deviance and watermelon an indication of pregnancy. The A-Z organization of the text is complemented by a thematic index with short introductory articles on fruitful areas of euphemistic language such as business, sex, death and the human body. How Not to Say What You Mean remains the most lively and authoritative guide to the language of evasion, hypocrisy, prudery and deceit.
