The breast

The breast consists of numerous lobules (individual glands). Each lobule has a central milk duct that leads to the nipple. Each breast also has a network of lymph nodes. The lymph nodes are small, bean-shaped structures that filter out any harmful substances from the body. They are located in the armpits, under the arm, and in the chest area.

What is breast cancer?

Breast cancer is a disease in which abnormal cells in the breast grow out of control. It can start in the ducts or lobules of the breast. Breast cancer can spread to other parts of the body. The most common type of breast cancer is ductal carcinoma in situ (DCIS). DCIS is a precancerous condition that can lead to breast cancer if it is not treated.
