KJ Lindholm-Leary

Up Against The Clock:

Against the Clock: A Cricket Story Sir Pelham Grenville Wodehouse, My family are a great anxiety to me Sometimes when Saunders is doing my hair it s been up for ages nearly six months I look in the glass and wonder why it s not grey the hair I mean There is my brother Bob for instance He s much better now of course for I have worked very hard on him but when he first went to Oxford he was dreadful He required the very firmest treatment on my part And even father when my eye is not on him There was that business of the right of way for example It happened the summer before I put my hair up I had been away for a visit to Aunt Flora She is one of my muddling aunts not nearly so nice as Aunt Edith but on the other hand not perfectly awful like Aunt Elizabeth I was glad to get back The motor was waiting for me at the station I sat in front instead of in the tonneau because I wanted to talk to Phillipps the chauffeur He always tells me what has been happening while I have been away and what the butler thinks about it To day he started about old Joe Gossett Joe is an old man who earns a little by winding up some of the big clocks in the village the church clock the one over the stables at home and one or two more At least he s supposed to but he often forgets and then the clocks stop and there s rather a fuss I like Joe He is a friend of mine We have long talks about pigs He loves talking about pigs He has two of his own and they are like sons to him I have known him talk for three quarters of an hour about them Old Joe said Phillipps he forgot to wind up the stable clock again He s careless Miss I said Poor Joe Was father cross Phillipps chuckled He is the only chauffeur I have met who ever does chuckle Ah he said You re right miss Old Joe he s always talking about his blessed pigs till he forgets there s anything except them in the world Phillipps let the car go a mile before he said anything else He s like that He turns himself off like a tap

Up Against the Wall Motherfer Osha Neumann,2011-01-04 They called themselves the Motherfuckers others called them a street gang with an analysis Osha Neumann s thoughtful funny and honest account of his part in 60s counterculture is also an unflinching look at what all that rebellion of the past means today The fast moving story follows the establishment of the Motherfuckers who influenced the Yippies and members of SDS makes vivid the art music and politics of the era and reveals the colorful often deeply strange personalities that gave the movement its momentum Abbie Hoffman said the Motherfuckers were the middle class nightmare an antimedia media phenomenon simply because their name could not be printed In the few years of its existence the group forced its way into the Pentagon during a war protest helped occupy one of the buildings in the Columbia University takeover and cut the fences at Woodstock to allow thousands in for free among many other feats of radical derring do Progressing from a fractured family of intellectuals to rebellion in the streets of New York and on to communes in California Newmann shows us a view of a life led in rebellion anger and eventually a tentative peace

Ageing Masculinities in Irish Literature and Visual Culture Michaela Schrage-Früh,Tony Tracy,2022-07-14 This book engages with ageing masculinities in Irish literature and visual culture including fiction drama poetry painting and documentary Exploring the shifting representations of older men from the early twentieth century to the present the contributors analyse how a broad range of literary and visual texts construct reinscribe or challenge perceptions of older age. In doing so they trace a shift from depictions of authority figures often symbolising patriarchal dominance and oppression to more nuanced complex and heterogeneous explorations of older men's embodied subjectivities and vulnerabilities. Exploring artists and writers such as Seán Keating, J. M. Synge, Teresa Deevy, Marina Carr, Seamus Heaney, Paul Muldoon, Derek Mahon, Kate O'Brien, John Banville, Colm Tóibín, Bernard MacLaverty, Mike McCormack, Anne Griffin and Claire Keegan, the chapters in this book attend to the symbolic as well as social significance of older men in Irish cultural expression. The Clock
