Artificial Cells Thomas Ming Swi Chang, 2007 This is the first book that provides a comprehensive review of the entire area of artificial cells The author a pioneer of the field invented the first artificial cells some 50 years ago and has continued to carry out active research in this field Since then there have been explosive research activities around the world on artificial cells especially in fields related to biotechnology nanomedicine cell therapy blood substitutes drug delivery and others However instead of the term artificial cells many authors use other terminologies such as blood substitutes bioencapsulation liposomes nanoparticles and so on Furthermore papers in this highly interdisciplinary area are published in numerous journals specializing in chemistry medicine surgery bioengineering and others while books in this area are mostly multi authored describing very specific and narrow areas As a result any meaningful literature search for a complete idea of the present status of the whole field of artificial cells is impossible This monograph is written to fill this gap by including all those areas in artificial cells that are disguised under different terminologies Each chapter begins with a detailed overview followed by detailed examples of the author's own research and a full description of his methods and procedures Readers interested in a detailed overview of the whole area can read from cover to cover omitting the methods section at the end of each chapter while those entering this area of research will find the detailed methods and procedures very useful

Homeostatic Blood States Theory Audrius Andrijauskas, 2008-01-31 Intravenous fluid and blood component resuscitation is an integral part of modern medicine practice in a variety of medical fields However these therapies are usually led by rigid and very approximate guidelines The purpose of creating the Homeostatic blood states theory was to develop more accurate guidelines On the basis of the new theory the following results have been reached

- 1 The physiological mathematical model explaining blood volume homeostasis has been created
- 2 Nomograms for infusion therapy measures blood loss evaluation and calculating red blood cell transfusion amount were proposed
- 3 Nomograms were built on the background of interfering relationship of blood hematocrit and hemoglobin concentration
- 4 New guidelines for infusion therapy blood loss evaluation and calculating transfusion amount for proper hematocrit increase were proposed
- 5 New method for early verification of occult bleeding has been suggested

Three major homeostatic blood states were described

- 1 target state
- 2 state of maximal isoosmotic plasma dilution
- 3 dehydration

Target states maintain optimal red cell mass and blood volume correlation Other two maintain critical plasma hydration origin deviations from target state Three new nomograms enable planning and evaluation of infusion therapy and red cell mass transfusion quantitate evaluation of blood loss and early detection of occult bleeding based on the dynamics of blood hematocrit and hemoglobin concentration
