The Local Area Networking Directory Third Edition:

Computer Work Stations Herman R. Holtz,2012-12-06 Most of us do not realize that we are living in revolutionary times To a large degree we are in a time of massive economic and industrial change and perhaps history will one day record this era as the Second Industrial Revolution Certainly we have been made aware of the decline of smoke stack industries and of the rapid rise of what might be called the information industries in the United States and presumably in most of the western world Several best selling authors have assured us that we must change or perish and a great many industrialists appear to agree Ironically we have also been all but promised a return to a modern form of that very cottage industry economy that the first Industrial Revolution wiped out Some of our leading savants envision individuals working at home on desktop computers connected via hardwire telephone to an employer's large central computer Will this come to pass Perhaps the industrial economic indicators appear to point in that direction although there are the problems of numerous laws and regulations labor laws and OSHA laws to name only two areas and ignoring for the moment the reaction of our labor unions that would be most difficult to reconcile with such an arrangement In a sense it is the computer that has brought about this condition

Directory of Technical and Scientific Directories A. P. Harvey,1989 Win32 Perl Scripting Dave Roth,2000 Scripting has become an enormously popular method of managing and maintaining Windows NT and 2000 networks as evidenced by the success of Windows NT Shell Scripting which has sold over 30 000 copies in 2 years Simpler than programming yet allowing greater complexity and utility than packaged network management tools scripting is now the tool of choice by many of you network administrators Perl is yet another powerful element of the scripting arsenal yet since it has been ported to the Windows environment very little information has been published on how to employ this extremely effective tool Win32 Perl is so powerful that it can accomplish virtually any task that you may want to perform Dave Roth prolific creator of Win32 extensions is prepared to share his unique insight into how these tasks can be accomplished and provide scripts that can be immediately employed This book illustrates how Perl can automate many current mundane administrative tasks
