Intellectual property is a legal concept that refers to the rights that are associated with the creations of the human mind. It is a form of property that is intangible and can be copied or imitated. Intellectual property is divided into four main categories: patents, trademarks, copyrights, and trade secrets. Each category has its own set of rules and regulations that govern how it is protected and enforced. Intellectual property is essential for innovation and economic growth, as it provides a legal framework for the protection and exploitation of creative ideas.
