offering readers a meaningful connection to the rich traditions of the Native American people Monuments in Cedar: The Authentic Story of the Totem Pole Edward Keithahn, 2021-11-06 Monuments in Cedar: The Authentic Story of the Totem Pole by Edward Keithahn is a landmark study of one of North America's most distinctive artistic and cultural traditions: the totem poles of the Pacific Northwest Coast. Written by a curator and ethnologist who lived among Indigenous communities of Alaska and British Columbia, this richly illustrated volume combines fieldwork, historical research, and native oral accounts to reveal the true meaning and artistry behind these majestic carvings. Keithahn strips away the myths and misconceptions that long surrounded totem poles, explaining their origins, symbolism, and social function within the cultures of the Tlingit, Haida, and Tsimshian peoples. He describes how each pole, far from being a mere decoration, serves as a living record of ancestry, legend, and community history—a vertical chronicle in cedar linking the spiritual and the human. His narrative brings to life the craftsmen and carvers who shaped these monuments, the rituals that accompanied their raising, and the cultural revival that has kept the tradition alive despite colonial disruption. Written with deep respect and first-hand knowledge, Monuments in Cedar stands as both a historical document and a tribute to enduring Indigenous creativity. It captures the resilience of Northwest Coast culture and the artistic genius that carved identity and memory into living wood. For readers of anthropology, art history, and Native studies, Keithahn's work remains an essential classic—authoritative, humane, and filled with the wonder of direct encounter with one of the world's great artistic heritages.

The Big Book of Car Culture Jim Hinckley, Jon G. Robinson, 2005 With the powerful rhythmic sounds of Aboriginal English and Kokatha language woven through the narrative, Mazin Grace is the inspirational story of a feisty girl who refuses to be told who she is, determined to uncover the truth for herself. Growing up on the Mission isn't easy for clever Grace Oldman. When her classmates tease her for not having a father, she doesn't know what to say. Pappa Neddy says her dad is the Lord.

God in Heaven but that doesn't help when the Mission kids call her a bastard. As Grace slowly pieces together clues that might lead to answers, she struggles to find a place in a community that rejects her for reasons she doesn't understand. In this novel, author Dylan Coleman fictionalizes her mother's childhood at the Koonibba Lutheran Mission in South Australia in the 1940s and 1950s.

The Totem Pole Aldona Jonaitis, Aaron Glass, 2010. Writing a poem is like trying to describe a totemic column which passes right through and beyond the world. We see it, but its existence is elsewhere. Stanley Diamond's Totems on the Northwest Coast totem pole captivates the imagination. From the first descriptions of these tall carved monuments, totem poles have become central icons of the Northwest Coast region and symbols of its Native inhabitants. Although many of those who gaze at these carvings assume that they are ancient artifacts, the so-called totem pole is a relatively recent artistic development, one that has become immensely important to Northwest Coast people and has simultaneously gained a common place in popular culture, from fashion to the funny pages. The Totem Pole reconstructs the intercultural history of the art form in its myriad manifestations from the eighteenth century to the present. Aldona Jonaitis and Aaron Glass analyze the totem pole's continual transformation since Europeans first arrived on the scene, investigate its various functions in different contexts, and address the significant influence of colonialism on the proliferation and distribution of carved poles. The authors also describe their theories on the development of the art form, its spread from the Northwest Coast to world's fairs and global theme parks, its integration with the history of tourism, and its transformation into a signifier of place. The role of governments, museums, and anthropologists in collecting and restoring poles, and the part that these carvings have continuously played in Native struggles for control of their cultures and their lands. Short essays by scholars and artists, including Robert Davidson, Bill Holm, Richard Hunt, Nathan Jackson, Vickie Jensen, Andrea Laforet, Susan Point, Charlotte Townsend Gault, Lyle Wilson, and Robin Wright, provide specific case studies of many of the topics discussed, directly illustrating the various relationships that people have with the totem pole. Aldona Jonaitis is director emerita of the University of Alaska Museum of the North and professor at the University of Alaska Fairbanks. An art historian who has published widely on Native American art, she is the author of Art of the Northwest Coast and Looking North: Art from the University of Alaska Museum among other titles Aaron Glass is an assistant professor at the Bard Graduate Center in New York City where he teaches anthropology of art museums and material culture He has published on visual art media and performance among First Nations on the Northwest Coast and has produced the documentary film In Search of the Hamat sa A Tale of Headhunting Art of the Totem Marius Barbeau,2006 Explores the history development and significance of the totem pole art of the Northwest Coast Totem Poles to Cut Out & Put Together Steven Clay Brown,Bellerophon Books (Firm),1994-12
