The Young Forester (Classic Reprint) Zane Grey,2017-05-18 Excerpt from The Young Forester A step on the tin roof outside frightened me stiff I had noticed a porch or shed under my window Some one must have climbed upon it I stopped breathing to listen For what seemed moments there was no sound I wanted to think that the noise might have been made by a cat but I couldn t I was scared frightened half to death If there had been a bolt on the window the matter would not have been so disturbing I lay there a quiver eyes upon the gray window space of my room Dead silence once more intervened All I heard was the pound of my heart against my ribs Suddenly I froze at the sight of a black figure against the light of my window I recognized the strange hat the grotesque outlines I was about to shout for help when the fellow reached down and softly began to raise the sash That made me angry Jerking up in bed I caught the heavy pitcher from the wash stand and ung it with all my might About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
