Women Who Kill, Criminal Law and Domestic Abuse Rachel M. McPherson, 2023-10-16 This book presents an informed coherent and stimulating analysis of UK legal defences of homicide by victims of domestic abuse Women killing following domestic abuse from a male partner is a significant category of homicide In some areas of the UK it represents the most common context in which women kill Yet despite its significance it is an aspect of homicide that remains under researched within a UK context Much of what is known about cases of this type comes from other jurisdictions This book brings together a coherent understanding of the UK landscape in this area It builds upon existing literature particularly from the US which has examined this issue from a practical perspective using the lived experiences of practitioners involved in cases of this type The collection combines the experiences of those in practice with academic expertise pointing to potential sites of injustice that exist in this context and offering suggestions for reform The volume will be a valuable guide for those involved in cases of this nature whilst also offering insight to those academics with an interest in homicide and legal responses to domestic abuse The book will also be of interest to those working in the area of comparative criminal justice

Who Do the Ngimurok Say That They Are? Kevin P. Lines, 2018-04-12 How do missiologists describe the cosmologies of those that Christianity encounters around the world Our descriptions often end up filtered through our own Western religious categories Furthermore indigenous Christians adopt these Western religious categories This presents the problem of local Christianities described by Kwame Bediako as those that have not known how to relate to their traditional culture in terms other than those of denunciation or of separateness Kevin Lines s phenomenological study of local religious specialists in Turkana Kenya not only challenges our Western categories by revealing a more authentic complexity of the issues for local Christians and Western missionaries but also provides a model for continued use of phenomenology as a valued research method in larger missiological studies Additionally this study points to the ways that local Christians and traditional religious practitioners interpret Western missionaries through local religious categories Clearly missionaries missiologists anthropologists and religious studies scholars need to do a much more careful job of studying and describing the contextually specific phenomena of traditional religious specialists before relying on meta categories that come out of our Western theology or older overly simplified ethnographies The research from this current study of Turkana religious specialists begins that process in the Turkana context and offers a model for future studies in contexts where traditional religion and Christianity intersect The Mahabharata ,2015-06-01 The Greatest Story Ever Told Dispute over land and kingdom may lie at the heart of this story of war between cousins the Pandavas and the Kouravas but the Mahabharata is about conflicts of dharma These conflicts are immense and various singular and commonplace Throughout the epic characters face them with no clear indications of what is right and what is wrong there are no absolute answers Thus every possible human emotion features in the Mahabharata the reason the epic continues to hold sway over our imagination In this superb and widely acclaimed translation of the complete Mahabharata Bibek Debroy takes us on a great journey with incredible ease The City of God Saint Augustine (of Hippo),1888 The Oölogist ,1916 Documents Massachusetts.
