Three Generations Two Genders One World:

Three Generations, Two Genders, One World Sylvia H. Chant, Cathy McIlwaine, 1998 Based on surveys in which young women or men interviewed their siblings parents and grandparents on matters of relevance to gender including gender roles and relations

Third World Planning Review, 1999

Women's Writing in Western Europe Adalgisa Giorgio, Julia Waters, 2007 Women's writing has in recent decades been one of the most exciting and productive areas of literary creativity and critical analysis Thirty years on from the initial spectacular blossoming of women's writing and from pioneering critical projects to re-construct a female literary tradition Women's Writing in Western Europe: Gender, Generation and Legacy is the first study to investigate the legacy of this earlier generation of writers' texts and theories for contemporary women writers from across western Europe This important and timely book brings together original analyses by different generations of critics from around the globe from internationally renowned feminist scholars to promising doctoral students Their sophisticated studies uncover a complex web of explicit and implicit intertextual links between contemporary writers and such iconic figures as Aleramo, Beauvoir, Colette, Cixous, Duras, Irigaray, Kristeva, Morante, Morgner, Woolf and Woolf so attesting to the existence of a truly international women's culture across ever more fluid national borders Women's Writing in Western Europe is a major intervention in the field of feminist literary criticism which offers new comparative understandings of such key theoretical concepts as intertextuality, intergenerational relations, gender identity and legacy oeCovering an enormous range of writers and national traditions Women's Writing in Western Europe: Gender, Generation and Legacy attests to the vibrancy and the currency of feminist criticism and theory in the new Europe These essays give us new paradigms to think and read with in the future Professor Marianne Hirsch, Columbia University, New York

oeThirty years after the creative outburst of women's writing and feminist theory of the early 1970s can we still speak of a women's tradition of writing of gender and generation of the iconic role of the mother figure This dense and wide-ranging collection of essays engages with the dynamics of legacy and conflict of recognition and denial to map out some of the many complex strands and relationships marking the textual relations of women's writing across time and geographic boundaries No simple tradition of women's writing emerges but the powerful hold exerted by some of the most canonical writers, Beauvoir, Woolf, Cixous, Irigaray, Kristeva, Rich and the evidence of the construction of new relationships between and across texts by women points to a continuing network of transmission in which women's texts are enmeshed This is an important collection and a large readership will be grateful for this probing of issues which are at the heart of the reading of women's writing Professor Elizabeth Fallaize, St John's College, Oxford

Gender, Generation and Urban Living Conditions in Southern Africa National University of Lesotho. Institute of Southern African Studies, 2005 Presents a selection of papers from the programme which is intended to provide further knowledge through capturing voices of men and women across generations to represent the elderly adults, boys and girls in different positions within the urban context      Exclusion and Engagement Christopher Abel, Colin M. Lewis, 2002 This collection offers a reappraisal of social policy in response to the scale of the challenges confronting Latin America Divided into four sections Concepts Models and Practice Health and Social Security Education and Household and Community the book explores the functions of social policy and the prospects of its performing a new and more dynamic role The authors place contemporary social policy in historical perspective study the connection between growth and welfare and consider the efficacy of the state in the social sphere from both macro and micro perspectives Underpinning the collection are issues relating to the question of the social contract between state and citizen and how the exercise of citizenship connects society and state

Enterprising Women in Urban Zimbabwe Mary Johnson Osirim, 2009-04-24 Mary Johnson Osirim investigates the business and personal experiences of women entrepreneurs in Harare and Bulawayo Zimbabwe to understand their successes challenges and contributions to development These businesswomen work in the microenterprise sector which is defined as businesses that employ five workers or fewer with many working as market traders crocheters seamstresses and hairdressers The women who took part in Osirim s research during the 1990s pursued their businesses reinvested profits engaged in innovation and provided employment and through their work supported households and extended family and social networks Osirim finds that despite major problems the Zimbabwean businesswomen maintained their enterprises and their households and managed to contribute in significant ways to their community and national development in the face of an economic structural adjustment program Osirim also explores the impact of state and non governmental organizations on small business operations Enterprising Women in Urban Zimbabwe offers a comprehensive study of women s role as entrepreneurs in the microeconomic sector that shows them as agents during challenging political and economic times

Latin America Transformed Robert N. Gwynne, Cristóbal Kay, 2004 Now in a second edition this book explains Latin America s economic political social and cultural transformations its association with globalization and search for modernity and how these transformations are affecting the people of the region Using a political economy approach to unravel these concepts the emphasis is placed on interpreting the macro level structures that frame the transformations taking place Updated and revised to include more student friendly features the authors have substantially rewritten the material including three new chapters to examine the challenges facing Latin American in the twenty first century      Investing in Tomorrow's Commonwealth , 1995      Handbook of Latin American and Caribbean Studies in the UK University of London. Institute of Latin American Studies, 2003-10      Crowded Houses, Gendered Spaces and Generational Differences Sophie Oldfield, Joanne Boulton, 2007 This is the ninth of the research reports from the GRUPHEL part of the regional programme on Gender Research on Urbanisation Planning Housing and Everyday Life The report focuses on the realities of severely overcrowded accommodation in family dwellings the ways in which young women and men adapt of insufficient access to independent housing strategies to access affordable housing the gendered and generation specific nature of social networks that facilitate access to housing the ways in which young women and men respond to housing and household context by redefining their households and expectations of and aspirations for the formation of their own families and the ways in which overcrowded housing contexts shape relationships between young women and men and their positioning within households the neighbourhood and the city more generally Sophie Oldfield is a senior lecturer in the Department of Environmental Geographical Science at the University of Cape Town Joanne Boulton is a graduate student in the Department of Environmental Geographical Science at the University of Cape Town Bibliographic Guide to Womens Studies 1998 New York Public Library Staff,1999-08 Women, Gender and Development in the Caribbean Pat Ellis,2003 Publisher Description Report to Heads of Government by the Commonwealth Secretary-General Commonwealth Secretariat,1995 Contemporary Authors Julie Keppen,2004-10 A biographical and bibliographical guide to current writers in all fields including poetry fiction and nonfiction journalism drama television and movies Information is provided by the authors themselves or drawn from published interviews feature stories book reviews and other materials provided by the authors publishers Report of the Commonwealth Secretary-General Commonwealth Secretariat,1995 Fast Forward Torry D. Dickinson,Robert K. Schaeffer,2001-07-20 This innovative global feminist analysis of work and politics examines the diverse problems and related protests of women and men who labor to make ends meet in a rapidly changing world Using vivid examples from around the world it reveals how globalization is reshaping social institutions and lives Fast Forward explores how businesses and states reshaped and redistributed work around the world during the last 30 years of globalization often with adverse consequences Within this fast moving context laboring people today engage in work outside of formal employment try to obtain survival resources mount a diverse array of often women centered protests against firms and states and try on their own terms to reinvent work and democratic political practices Portraying the human face of global change Fast Forward shows how overlapping social movements wrestle with economic and political marginalization and initiate highly diverse but related attempts to change the way the world works Crossing borders, changing minds? Jorunn Sem Fure,Line Alice Ytrehus,2003 Africa Contemporary Record ,1996 Index Islamicus ,1998 Current Research in Britain ,1998
