Three Impostors:

The Three Impostors Arthur Machen, 2023-05-09 The Three Impostors is a controversial work that has sparked debate over its existence and authorship. The text is often attributed to various historical figures including Frederick II Pierre des Vignes and others but its true origins remain shrouded in mystery. The treatise is divided into six chapters each addressing different aspects of theology and philosophy. It critiques the traditional notions of God, the reasons behind religious belief, and the establishment of religions by political figures. The work argues that ignorance and fear have led to the creation of religious systems which have been exploited by politicians and impostors for their own gain. It challenges the authenticity of religious texts and the existence of spirits proposing a pantheistic view of the universe. The treatise also delves into the nature of the soul, refuting the arguments of philosophers like Descartes and dismisses the belief in demons as a product of human imagination. Despite its contentious nature, The Three Impostors offers a critical perspective on religion and philosophy, questioning the foundations of widely held beliefs and encouraging readers to seek truth through reason and evidence.

Christianity and Islam has received more serious attention This volume contributes to the emergence and development of the comparative study of the Abrahamic religions a discipline which is now in its formative stages This Handbook includes both critical and supportive perspectives on the very concept of the Abrahamic religions and discussions on the role of the figure of Abraham in these religions It features 32 essays by the foremost scholars in the field on the historical interactions between Abrahamic communities on Holy Scriptures and their interpretation on conceptions of religious history on various topics and strands of religious thought such as monotheism and mysticism on rituals of prayer purity and sainthood on love in the three religions and on fundamentalism The volume concludes with three epilogues written by three influential figures in the Christian Jewish and Muslim communities to provide a broader perspective on the comparative study of the Abrahamic religions This ground breaking work introduces readers to the challenges and rewards of studying these three religions together

The Idea of Semitic Monotheism Guy G. Stroumsa,2021 The Idea of Semitic Monotheism examines some major aspects of the scholarly study of religion in the long nineteenth century from the Enlightenment to the First World War It aims to understand the new status of Judaism and Islam in the formative period of the new discipline Guy G Stroumsa focuses on the concept of Semitic monotheism a concept developed by Ernest Renan around the mid nineteenth century on the basis of the postulated and highly problematic contradistinction between Aryan and Semitic families of peoples cultures and religions This contradistinction grew from the Western discovery of Sanskrit and its relationship with European languages at the time of the Enlightenment and Romanticism Together with the rise of scholarly Orientalism this discovery offered new perspectives on the East as a consequence of which the Near East was demoted from its traditional status as the locus of the Biblical revelations This innovative work studies a central issue in the modern study of religion Doing so however it emphasizes the new dualistic taxonomy of religions had major consequences and sheds new light on the roots of European attitudes to Jews and Muslims in the twentieth century up to the present day

The Three Impostors Or the Transmutations (1895). By: Arthur Machen Arthur Machen,2018-02-07 The Three Impostors or The Transmutations is an episodic horror novel by British writer Arthur Machen first published in 1895 in The Bodley Head's Keynote Series. It was revived in paperback by Ballantine Books as the forty eighth volume of the Ballantine Adult Fantasy series in June 1972.

Arthur Machen (3 March 1863 – 15 December 1947) was a Welsh author and mystic of the 1890s and early 20th century. He is best known for his influential supernatural fantasy and horror fiction. His novella The Great God Pan (1890–1894) has garnered a reputation as a classic of horror, with Stephen King describing it as "Maybe the best horror story in the English language." He is also well known for his leading role in creating the legend of the Angels of Mons.

Early years: Machen was born Arthur Llewelyn Jones in Caerleon, Monmouthshire, though he usually referred to the area by the name of the medieval Welsh kingdom Gwent. The house of his birth, opposite the Olde Bull Inn in The Square at Caerleon, is adjacent to the Priory Hotel and is today marked with a commemorative blue plaque. The beautiful landscape of Monmouthshire, with its associations of Celtic, Roman, and medieval history, made a powerful impression on him, and his love of it is at the heart of many of his works.

Machen was descended from a long line of clergymen, the family having originated in Carmarthenshire. In 1864, when Machen was two, his father John Edward Jones became vicar of the parish of Llanddewi Fach, with Llandegveth, about five miles north of Caerleon, and Machen was brought up at the rectory there. Jones had adopted his wife's maiden name, Machen, to inherit a legacy, legally becoming Jones Machen; his son was baptised under that name and later used a shortened version of his full name, Arthur Machen, as a pen name.

Local historian and folklorist Fred Hando traces Machen's interest in the occult to a volume of Household Words in his father's Rectory library, in which he read, at the age of eight, an entrancing article on alchemy. Hando recounts Machen's other early reading: He bought De Quincey's Confessions of an English Opium Eater at Pontypool Road Railway Station; The Arabian Nights at Hereford Railway Station; and borrowed Don Quixote from Mrs Gwyn of Llanfrechfa Rectory. In his father's library, he found also the Waverley Novels, a three-volume edition of the Glossary of Gothic Architecture, and an early volume of Tennyson. At the age of eleven, Machen boarded at Hereford Cathedral School, where he received an excellent classical education. Family poverty ruled out attendance at university, and Machen was sent to London, where he sat exams to attend medical school but failed to get in. Machen, however, showed literary promise, publishing in 1881 a long poem Eleusinia on the subject of the Eleusinian Mysteries. Returning to London, he lived in relative poverty, attempting to work as a journalist, as a publisher's clerk, and as a children's tutor, while writing in the evening and going on long, rambling walks across London.
