Valley Of Gold:

Squaw Valley Gold Seamus O'Coughlin, 2001 The 1960 Olympic Winter Games in Squaw Valley California literally introduced winter sports particularly ice hockey to the American public through television During the average minute the Olympics were on the air 26.1% of homes with sets black and white only were tuned in Twenty million Americans watched the nationally televised game between the U S and Russia on Saturday afternoon February 27 more than the combined audience of all other programs on the air at the same time Squaw Valley Gold tracks the struggle over control of amateur hockey in the United States from the world tournament at the 1920 Olympic Summer Games in Antwerp Belgium to America's first gold medal in Olympic ice hockey The Squaw Valley Games were also known as the Hollywood Olympics Walt Disney programmed the pageantry and invited his movie friends to the party Europeans fretted and fumed over the Disneyland atmosphere but the athletes housed together in a private Olympic Village and the spectators had a great time hanging out with Bing Crosby Marlene Dietrich Jayne Mansfield Roy Rogers Red Skelton and Danny Kaye Gardens of Gold Jamon Alex Halvaksz, 2020-08-31 This is a soya bean the Biangai villager explained a money bean Since the start of colonial gold mining in the early 1920s the Biangai villagers of Elauru and Winima in Papua New Guinea have moved away from planting yams and other subsistence foods to instead cultivating coffee and other cash crops and dishing for tradable flakes of gold Decades of industrial gold mining land development conservation efforts and biological research have wrought transformations in the landscape and entwined traditional Biangai gardening practices with Western capital disrupting the relationship between place and person and the social reproduction of a community Drawing from extensive ethnographic research Jamon Halvaksz examines the role of place in informing indigenous relationships with conservation and development How do Biangai make meaning with the physical world Collapsing Western distinctions between self and an earthly other Halvaksz shows us it is a sense of place grounded in productive relationships between nature and culture that connects Biangai to one another as placepersons and enables them to navigate global forces amid changing local and regional economies Centering local responses along the frontiers of resource extraction Gardens of Gold contributes to our understanding of how neoliberal economic practices intervene in place based economies and identities Death Valley Gold Rush Ted Faye, 2022-10 From the mid 19th century to the 1930s no place in America was more feared or mysterious than the stretch of desert on the California Nevada border known as Death Valley While today Death Valley National Park is seen as a place of natural beauty and scenic wonders there were once rumors of vaporous gases so toxic that birds flying overhead would drop dead instantly One of the first Americans to encounter this dreaded land was William Lewis Manly who left his Wisconsin home for California's 1849 Gold Rush and who heroically saved those lost pioneers who would give Death Valley its name Other pioneers in the early 20th century were Frank Shorty Harris who made Death Valley's biggest gold strike the Hoyt brothers who in 1908 struck it rich in a place called Skidoo and in the 1920s a con man named C C Julian who used the valley's reputation to scam naive investors There was a time when the entire country seemed to be consumed with news and tales of the Death Valley Gold Rush Ted Faye is a documentary filmmaker exhibit curator and historical researcher on stories and people of the Death Valley region Faye has worked with tourism boards on both the state and local levels to develop materials that tell the stories of their communities He was a historian at US Borax and many images from this book are from the Borax collection at Death Valley National Park Annual Report Geological Survey of Canada,1896 Atlases accompany 1885 1891 1894 1895 1897 1904 Annual Report of the Superintendent of Insurance New York (State).
