Joe "Flash" Gordon Judy Gordon, Erik Simpson, 2026-02-05 As a rookie in 1938 Joe Flash Gordon became the American League's first power hitting second baseman and redefined how the position was played. Signed by the New York Yankees he helped the team win five World Series titles in just seven years. Following their 1941 championship manager Joe McCarthy was quoted saying "The greatest all-around ball player I ever saw and I don't bar any of them is Joe Gordon." The following year Gordon bested Boston's Triple Crown winner Ted Williams for the American League Most Valuable Player Award of 1942. After serving 18 months in the U.S. Army during World War II Gordon returned to the Yankees in 1946 then was traded to the Cleveland Indians that October prompting owner Bill Veeck to exclaim "We just won the pennant. Befriending the American League's first African American player Larry Doby in 1947 Gordon helped lead the Indians to the franchise's last World Series championship in 1948. This nine-time All-Star retired after the 1950 season and went on to manage several minor league and major league teams. This complete biography of Joe Flash Gordon tells his entire story all the way until his induction into the National Baseball Hall of Fame in 2009.

Statistical Encyclopedia of North American Professional Sports K. Michael Gaschnitz, 2008-09-18 This reference work updated since the 1997 edition provides comprehensive information on the major professional leagues in North America: baseball, basketball, football, hockey, and soccer. Arranged chronologically, the entries for each league in each sport include individual statistical leaders, championship results, major rules changes, winners of major awards, and hall of fame inductees.

In Pursuit of Pennants Mark L. Armour, Daniel R. Levitt, 2015-04 The 1936 Yankees, the 1963 Dodgers, the 1975 Reds, the 2010 Giants: why do some baseball teams win while others don't? General managers and fans alike have pondered this most important of baseball questions. The Moneyball strategy is not the first example of how new ideas and innovative management have transformed the way teams are assembled. In Pursuit of Pennants examines and analyzes a number of compelling winning baseball teams over the past hundred plus years, focusing on their decision making and how they assembled their championship teams. Whether through scouting, integration, instruction, expansion, free agency, or modernizing their management structure, each winning team and each era had its own version of Moneyball where front office decisions often made the difference. Mark L. Armour and Daniel R. Levitt show how these teams succeeded and how they relied on talent both on the field and in the front office. While there is no recipe for guaranteed success in a competitive, ever-changing environment, these teams demonstrate how creatively thinking about one's circumstances can often lead to a competitive advantage.
