Wickelgren tells the story of the race to map the human genome      Competition P.A. Keddy, 2012-12-06 Competition is one of the most important factors controlling the distribution and abundance of living creatures Sperm cells racing up reproductive tracts beetle larvae battling inside single seeds birds defending territories and trees interfering with the light available to neighbours are all engaged in competition for limited resources Along with predation and mutualism competition is one of the three major biological forces that assemble living communities Recent experimental work much of it only from the last few decades has enhanced human knowledge of the prevalence of competition in nature There are acacia trees that use ants to damage vines beetles that compete in arenas for access to dung balls tadpoles that apparently poison their neighbours birds that smash the eggs of potential competitors and plants that associate with fungi in order to increase access to soil resources While intended as an up to date reference work on the state of this branch of ecology the many non technical examples will make interesting reading for those with a general interest in nature Greatly expanded from the first prize winning edition there are entirely new chapters including one on resources and another on competition gradients in nature The author freely ranges across all major taxonomic groups in search of evidence The question of whether competition occurs is no longer useful the author maintains rather the challenge is to determine when and where each kind of competition is important in natural systems For this reason variants of competition such as intensity asymmetry and hierarchies are singled out for particular attention The book concludes with the difficulties of finding general principles in complex ecological communities and illustrates the limitations on knowledge that arise out of the biased conduct of scientists themselves Competition can be found elsewhere in living systems other than ecological communities at sub microscopic scales in the interactions of enzymes and neural pathways and over large geographic areas in the spread of human populations and contrasting ideas about the world Human societies are therefore also examined for evidence of the kinds of competition found among other living organisms Using an array of historical examples including Biblical conflicts the use of noblemen's sons in the Crusades the Viking raids in Europe strategic bombing campaigns in the Second World War and ethnic battles of the Balkans the book illustrates how most of the aspects of competition illustrated with plants and animals can be extended to the interactions of human beings and their societies      The English Factory Legislation Ernst Freiherr von Plener, 1873      The English Factory Legislation Plener, 1873      Factory, 1918 Vols 24 no 3 v 34 no 3 include International industrial digest      Spitting in the Soup Mark Johnson, 2016-07-01 Doping is as old as organized sports From baseball to horse racing cycling to track and field drugs have been used to enhance performance for 150 years For much of that time doping to do better was expected It was doping to throw a game that stirred outrage Doping is as old as organized sports From baseball to horse racing cycling to track and field drugs have been used to enhance performance for 150 years For much of that time doping to do better was expected It was doping to throw a game that stirred outrage Today though athletes are vilified for using performance enhancing drugs Damned as moral deviants who shred the fair play fabric dopers are an affront to the athletes who don t take shortcuts But this tidy view swindles sports fans While we may want the world sorted into villains and victims putting the blame on athletes alone ignores decades of history in which teams coaches governments the media scientists sponsors sports federations and even spectators have played a role The truth about doping in sports is messy and shocking because it holds a mirror to our own reluctance to spit in the soup that is to tell the truth about the spectacle we crave In Spitting in the Soup sports journalist Mark Johnson explores how the deals made behind closed doors keep drugs in sports Johnson unwinds the doping culture from the early days when pills meant progress and uncovers the complex relationships that underlie elite sports culture the essence of which is not to play fair but to push the boundaries of human performance It s easy to assume that drugs in sports have always been frowned upon but that s not true Drugs in sports are old It s banning drugs in sports that is new Spitting in the Soup offers a biting honest clear eyed look at why that s so and what it will take to kick pills out of the locker room once and for all Recoding Nature Richard A. Hindmarsh, Geoffrey Lawrence, 2004 The book addresses some fundamental and profound questions such as Are GM foods safe to eat What do consumers think about GM foods and alternatively organic produce What are the real risks of genetic pollution And is it appropriate to delete a supposed gene for sadness Recoding Nature challenges the assumptions of those preparing the world for a recoded DNA future Recoding Nature is at the cutting edge of critical reflection about the biotechnology revolution the redesign of nature through genetically modified plants animals and even designer humans to eat What do consumers think about GM foods and alternatively organic produce What are the real risks of genetic pollution Is it appropriate to delete a supposed gene for sadness Where did the idea of the DNA code come from and how is it shaping thought for a genetics future Why has commercial release of GM canola been approved when all canola growing States have declared moratoriums there genes for crime or is this just an illusion What about the prospects of corporate bioprospecting among Indigenous peoples And why have large grass roots movements in Asia surfaced to contest the notion that GM foods will feed the hungry In fourteen essays by Australian and New Zealand writers critiquing the new biology and with a stimulating foreword by Mae Wan Ho the UK scientist leading a global attack on genetic engineering as bad science Recoding Nature challenges the assumptions of those preparing the world for a recoded DNA future The English Factory Legislation ...
