Ernest Glen Wever

The Reptiles:

The Reptiles of South Carolina Jeffrey D. Camper, 2019-05-07 A comprehensive illustrated guide to the Palmetto State's native species of reptiles. From the lowcountry coastal tidelands to the upstate Blue Ridge Mountains and everywhere in between, South Carolina's varied landscapes and habitats are home to a fascinating and mysterious assortment of alligators, turtles, lizards, and snakes. The Reptiles of South Carolina, a comprehensive illustrated guide to the Palmetto State, includes seventy-five native species of reptiles as well as introduced forms. Jeffrey D. Camper's accessible descriptions and intriguing details are designed to enlighten readers about this misunderstood and often maligned group of secretive and ecologically important animals. Camper begins with a discussion of the state's mild climate and wide variety of natural habitats, including forests, plains, sandhills, wetlands, and barrier islands. The entry for each species provides a color picture, detailed descriptions of external appearance, variations in size and color, taxonomic keys, comparisons to similar species to aid in identification, and natural history. Camper also assesses the conservation status of each species and offers a detailed range map of where that species is known to occur in the state and another map showing its entire geographic range in the continental United States. The Reptiles of South Carolina includes 92 color and 79 black and white illustrations, a checklist by reptile family, a helpful glossary, and a short history of herpetology in the Palmetto State. This authoritative reference will prove invaluable to students, professional herpetologists, conservationists, ecologists, biologists, land managers, and amateur naturalists alike. A foreword is provided by J. Whitfield Gibbons, professor emeritus of ecology at the University of Georgia and former head of the environmental outreach and education program at the Savannah River Ecology Laboratory.

The Reptiles of Western North America John Van Denburgh, 1922 Field Guide to the Reptiles of South-East Asia Indraneil Das, 2015-06-18 A Field Guide to the Reptiles of South East Asia is the first comprehensive guide to the snakes, lizards, crocodiles, tortoises, and turtles of the region. South East Asia is home to one of the most diverse reptile faunas on Earth. Covering more than 1000 species and subspecies in thorough detail, this field guide provides authoritative up-to-date information on identification, habitat, behaviour, subspecies, distribution, and status. The informative text explains the behaviour and morphology of reptiles as well as how to measure and identify species according to scale counts and other anatomical features. South East Asia is one of the most important ecotourism destinations in the world, with an expanding local market as wildlife conservation assumes greater prominence locally. This guide is essential reading for anyone interested in the wildlife of the region: wildlife enthusiasts, students, conservation planners, and specialists alike.

The Reptile Ear Ernest Glen Wever, 2019-01-29 In this definitive work, Ernest Glen Wever establishes the evolutionary importance of the reptile ear as the origin of the higher type of auditory apparatus shared by man and the mammals. Tracing the development of the auditory receptor in the living reptiles, he examines the use of a variety of mechanisms and principles of action by that receptor. While some of the material in this book has appeared previously in journal articles, most of it is presented here for the first time. Basing this study on his twenty years of research at Princeton's Auditory Research Laboratories Professor Wever treats in anatomical and functional detail the auditory mechanism in about 250 species and subspecies of reptiles The anatomical treatment rests on dissections and histological examinations of the ears in serial section and portrays the relevant features in drawings that represent particular views of reconstructions The author evaluates the performance of these ears electrophysiologically in terms of the electrical potentials of the cochlea paying particular attention to problems of the transmission of vibrations inward to the cochlea and the actions there in stimulating the sensory cells Professor Wever finds that the cochlea emerged independently from the non auditory labyrinth in three different vertebrate groups fishes amphibians and reptiles It was among the reptiles however that the vertebrate ear took on a more advanced configuration from which it further evolved along separate lineages in the birds and mammals Ernest Glen Wever is Eugene Higgins Professor of Psychology Emeritus at Princeton University Originally published in 1978 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Field Guide to the Reptiles of the Northern Territory Chris Jolly, Brendan Schembri, Stewart Macdonald, 2023-06 A land of extremes the Northern Territory's arid deserts and monsoonal forests harbour some of Australia's smallest and the world's largest reptiles as well as some of the world's most venomous snakes Field Guide to the Reptiles of the Northern Territory is the first regional guide to the crocodiles turtles lizards and snakes of this megadiverse region It presents introductions to order family and genus keys to family genus and species and species profiles including descriptions photos distribution maps and notes on natural history It features profiles for the 390 species that occur or may occur on the land and in the sea of the Northern Territory Extensively illustrated this is an essential resource for wildlife enthusiasts and professional and amateur herpetologists
