SARS-CoV-2 Vaccines Beyond the Pandemic Era Ritthideach Yorsaeng, Farid Rahimi, Shisan Bao, Amornphat Kitro, 2025-11-25 SARS CoV 2 or COVID 19 vaccines were developed rapidly within one year after the emergence of the COVID 19 pandemic The first generation of COVID 19 vaccines was based on the ancestral or wild type strain which could reduce the risk of life threatening infections Notably SARS CoV 2 genomic variants with altered surface antigens did not emerge until many months into the pandemic after massive viral replication To maintain the integrity of their genome coronaviruses use a specialized RNA proofreading mechanism that excises misincorporated nucleotides from the nascent RNA by the NSP14 NSP10 complex containing an exonuclease domain As a result we have seen various variants of the virus since the disease s outbreak some of which are highly contagious and or capable of evading immunity such as the Omicron B.1.1.529 variant Additionally it is important to note that vaccine induced immunity can wane gradually leading to reduced protection Before the second generation of COVID 19 vaccines e.g. bivalent the vaccines against the original strain were used as boosters While these boosters can mitigate the disease severity they may not sufficiently protect against infection with SARS CoV 2 variants of concern particularly new subvariants of Omicron Considering the evolving nature of the pandemic what is the next step in COVID 19 vaccine development beyond the first generation Even though most of the global population is no longer na ve to SARS CoV 2 and despite the World Health Organization s declaration of the end of COVID 19 as a Public Health Emergency of International Concern the risk of emergence of new variants that cause high case surges and high fatality remain The use strategies of the vaccine have changed and are adapted continuously to the evolution of the virus and population immunity This Research Topic is dedicated to exploring the second generation of COVID 19 vaccines e g bivalent and beyond including monovalent XBB Omicron XBB 1 5 subvariants and subsequent iterations Recent data on the use of COVID 19 bivalent vaccines from late 2020 onwards are of great interest and can provide valuable insights for future vaccination strategies Our scope encompasses a wide array of evidence pulling from animal models clinical trials post phase III studies including immunogenicity assessments in different settings real world evidence efficacy effectiveness evaluations and systematic reviews Submitted manuscripts focusing only on COVID 19 vaccines against the original strain ancestral or wild type would be unfit for this collection We welcome submissions of Original Research Mini reviews Reviews Systematic Reviews Policy and Practice Reviews Clinical Trials Perspectives Commentaries Policy Briefs and Brief Research Reports on the following subtopics Studies comparing immunogenicity efficacy and effectiveness of the new generation vaccines with those against the original viral strain Vaccines administered to the na ve host focusing on neonates and pediatric populations Vaccine for travelers Vaccine for high risk groups and occupations Hybrid immunity Heterologous strategies mix and match Effect of the breakthrough infection on COVID 19 vaccine recipients Impact of COVID 19 booster vaccination on public health and policy Immunologic characterization Adverse events and side effects following vaccination Interplay of vaccination with long COVID Bulletin Egypt.
