Wireless Personal Communications Theodore S. Rappaport, Brian D. Woerner, Jeffrey H. Reed, William H. Tranter, 2012-12-06 Wireless personal communications or wireless as it is now being called has arrived The hype is starting to fade and the hard work of deploying new systems and services for personal communications is underway In the United States the FCC propelled the wireless era from infancy to mainstream with a 7.7 billion auction of 60 MHz of radio spectrum in the 1800-1900 MHz band With the largest single sale of public property in the history of mankind mostly complete the resources of the entire world are being called upon to develop inexpensive rapidly deployable wireless systems and subscriber units for an industry that is adding subscribers at greater than 50% annual rate This growth is commonplace for wireless service companies throughout the world and in the U.S. where as many as 7 licensed wireless service providers may be competing for cellular/PCS customers within the next couple of years differentiators in cost quality service and coverage will become critical to customer acceptance and use Many of these issues are discussed in the papers included in this book

A Calculus for Factorial Arrangements Sudhir Gupta, Rahul Mukerjee, 2012-09-10 Factorial designs were introduced and popularized by Fisher 1935 Among the early authors Yates 1937 considered both symmetric and asymmetric factorial designs Bose and Kishen 1940 and Bose 1947 developed a mathematical theory for symmetric partially powered factorials while Nair and Rao 1941 1942 1948 introduced and explored balanced confounded designs for the asymmetric case Since then over the last four decades there has been a rapid growth of research in factorial designs and a considerable interest is still continuing Kurkjian and Zelen 1962 1963 introduced a tensor calculus for factorial arrangements which as pointed out by Federer 1980 represents a powerful statistical analytic tool in the context of factorial designs Kurkjian and Zelen 1963 gave the analysis of block designs using the calculus and Zelen and Federer 1964 applied it to the analysis of designs with two way elimination of heterogeneity Zelen and Federer 1965 used the calculus for the analysis of designs having several classifications with unequal replications no empty cells and with all the interactions present Federer and Zelen 1966 considered applications of the calculus for factorial experiments when the treatments are not all equally replicated and Paik and Federer 1974 provided extensions to when some of the treatment combinations are not included in the experiment The calculus which involves the use of Kronecker products of matrices is extremely helpful in deriving characterizations in a compact form for various important features like balance and orthogonality in a general multifactor setting

Electromagnetic Wave Interactions Ardeshir Guran, R Mittra, Philip J Moser, 1996-11-22 This book is a collection of papers on electromagnetic wave mechanics and its applications written by experts in this field It offers the reader a sampling of exciting research areas in this field The topics include polarimetric imaging radar spectroscopy surface or creeping waves bistatic radar scattering the Seebeck effect Mathematical methods include inverse scattering theory singularity expansion method mixed potential integral equation method of moments and diffraction theory Applications include Cellular Mobile Radios CMR radar target identification and Personal Communication Services PCS This book shows how electromagnetic wave theory is currently being utilized and investigated It involves a modicum of mathematical physics and will be of interest to researchers and graduate students in electrical engineering physics and applied mathematics
