Theatre Iii:

Christianopolis Johann Valentin Andreae, 1999-05-31 The Christianopolis 1619 of Johann Valentin Andreae describes in great detail a utopian community of scholar craftsmen as seen through the eyes of a naive young traveller It is a multi level text carefully constructed to provide both entertainment and a critique of contemporary society and religion which could also be read as the prospectus for the establishment of a new community This new translation aims to clarify Andreae's elliptical Latin for the first time by identifying parallel passages allusions and sources for his ideas and by linking Christianopolis with Andreae's other work as satirist dramatist poet and mathematician A new model of his revision of ideas drawn from Campanella is put forward and the politico economic principles embodied in the text are explored The translation should be of interest to students of the history of utopian ideas and the history of economic thought Christianopolis, 2013-06-29

Johann Valentin Andreere 1586 1654 was a multi faceted product of late Reformation Germany A theologian who was firmly committed to the Lutheran confession he could yet see very clearly the flaws in his church and argue for their reform without being an ecumenicist in the modern sense he yet admired many aspects of the society he observed in Calvinist Geneva and he recognised the outstanding merit of individual Catholic scholars A linguist and a lover of art and music he was the friend of scientists and an enthusiastic student of mathematics who held that science leads both to an appreciation of the wonders of the material world and its rejection in favour of more spiritual concerns In his satirical writing he could be ironic and flippant his rhetoric was often laboured and over elaborate but there is no mistaking the sincerity of his outrage at cruelty inhumanity and injustice Andreere was optimistic in that he believed that the corruption and deceit the luxury and deprivation the hypocrisy tyranny and sophistry of the age could be transformed in a second reformation yet there runs through his life a deep rooted pessimism or depression which makes his willingness to continue the struggle all the more admirable As early as 1618 while still a young deacon at the beginning of his career he defined the four ages of human life as terror error labor and horror Performance: pt. 1. Identity and the self Philip Auslander, 2003 This collection reflects not only the multidisciplinary nature of current thinking about performance but also the complex and contested nature of the concept itself
