Theological Reflections V 2:

Theological Reflections Elaine Graham, 2007-03-01 Some Theological Reflections on II Corinthians 3: 17-18 Ole Kristian Karlsen, 1975 Theological Reflection: Methods Elaine Graham, 2013-01-25 This is the first in a two part project aimed at postgraduates and academics interested in the expanding volume of work and research surrounding theological reflection Brought together in Volume one is a comprehensive collection of models of theological reflection By bringing this diverse collection together in one place the editors create a unique reference work that allows a clear and visible contrast and comparison as each model is treated formally and in a standard format Throughout each chapter the distinguishing features of the model are examined the geneology and origins are discussed worked examples of the model applied to contemporary theology are provided and critical commentary future trends and exercises and questions are provided Theology and Human Flourishing Mike Higton, Christopher Rowland, Jeremy Law, 2011-11-04 This collection of essays is a celebration of the work of Timothy Gorringer Like his theology it is animated by a delighted and critical engagement with the diverse facets of human social life and by a passionate concern to wrestle with the Bible and the Christian tradition in pursuit of human flourishing The built environment politics education art these essays by leading Christian theologians ask what it means for Christian theology to concern itself with to immerse itself in and to risk critical commentary on each of these and more The collection follows the same rhythm that animates Gorringer's work insistent attention to the Christian tradition in the light of the particular contexts where human flourishing is imagined fought for embodied and betrayed and a critical constructive and celebratory examination of those contexts in the light of the Christian tradition The contributions are very diverse touching on everything from city life to human curiosity poverty to genocide but they are united by a passion to make theological sense of human flourishing Abingdon New Testament Commentaries: Jude & 2 Peter Dr. Steven J. Kraftchick, 2011-09-01 The Abingdon New Testament Commentaries series offers compact critical commentaries on the writings of the New Testament These commentaries are written with special attention to the needs and interests of theology students but they will also be useful for students in upper level college or university settings as well as for pastors and other church leaders In addition to providing basic information about the New Testament texts and insights into their meanings these commentaries exemplify the tasks and procedures of careful critical exegesis In this volume of the Abingdon New Testament Commentaries series Steven J Kraftchick both studies these two epistles in their late first century context and discusses their relevance to the contemporary Christian church The author discusses the importance of the insider outsider language the harsh polemical tone of both letters and their reliance upon the Old Testament and both early Jewish and Greco Roman thought Because of the numerous similarities between Jude and Second Peter the latter probably made use of the former Kraftchick emulates many commentators by treating the two epistles together In antiquity few writers commented upon Second Peter the letter is little used in the liturgy But this does not diminish its importance as providing an insight into aspects of life in the early church Kraftchick sees Second Peter as possibly originating in the period 90-100 CE earlier than many commentators Its pseudonymous authorship and nature as a farewell testament were common enough at the time enabling the writer to cloak his own arguments in the garments of a revered authoritative personage of the past The letter's teaching on the delay of the parousia is among its most striking features it is the only NT writing to teach that the present world will be destroyed by fire though such a notion is found in intertestamental Jewish writings and among the Stoics Kraftchick brings nothing startlingly new to an already well furrowed exegetical field but his skill at synthesis and clarity of expression will be appreciated by the students for whom this entire series is intended Casimir Bernas Holy Trinity Abbey in Religious Studies Review Volume 29 Number 3 July 2003

Main Challenges for Christian Theology Today Christophe Chalamet, Lit Verlag, 2020-10 In this volume on the basis of three consultations which took place in Seoul and Geneva 2016-2017-2018 theologians from Yonsei University's College of Theology in Seoul South Korea and from the Theological Faculty at the University of Geneva reflect together on three of the main challenges facing Christian theology today First questions related to religious pluralism and multiple religious belonging are addressed Second the promise of an enhanced human being through technology and other means is discussed Third the reality of the threat humanity represents to our ecosystem is considered Each of these themes is examined from a Korean as well as from a Western European perspective for Christian theology in our day can no longer afford to remain limited to its own geographical context

Signs of the Times Juan Luis Segundo, 1993 These essays offer a probing entry into the work of one of Latin America's deepest and most challenging proponents of liberation theology Editor Alfred Hennelly has selected and briefly introduces the most important and representative of Juan Luis Segundo's voluminous writings from the last 20 years most of them never before available in English At once insightful and polemical Segundo is drawn to the thick of today's theological controversies He explores such areas as christology revelation the option for the poor the future of liberation theology Ignatian spirituality and the meaning of the recent quincentenary of Columbus arrival in the New World

Echoes of Jesus in the First Epistle of Peter Timothy E. Miller, 2022-03-10 How did the words of Jesus influence the writing of 1 Peter That is the question that is at the heart of this study Of course the answer is complicated by the fact that 1 Peter nowhere directly references the words of Jesus Nevertheless the impact of his words are evident throughout the letter The first third of the book lays the foundation for answering the question by giving clear and concise criteria for identifying places where 1 Peter uses the words of Jesus The rest of the book walks through the text of 1 Peter section by section submitting each potential echo of Jesus's words to the criteria previously developed The book concludes by considering how the words of Jesus influenced the themes and content of the letter

Homo Florens? Nadia Marais, 2023-10-09 What does it mean to flourish Human flourishing lies at the heart of the good news of the gospel and yet contemporary theologies know not only one way of speaking about what it means to flourish If we embed our theological grammars of flourishing in the doctrine of salvation as the doctrine in which theological flourishing talk is arguably rooted and from which rich fruit may be borne there is not one but various ways in which to speak about what it means to flourish Yet what governs our speaking Why do we speak of flourishing as we do The various conceptions of human flourishing that are outlined in this book piety joy and comfort being fully alive healing and dignity grace happiness and blessing represent a collection of attempts not only to imagine human flourishing but also to imagine ways of speaking about human flourishing Perhaps what theology could offer to the vibrant and robust conversations on human flourishing lies exactly in the reminder to take care about how we speak about that which is truly and deeply human our longing to flourish

An Intercultural Theology of Migration Gemma Cruz, 2010-01-15 Migration has long been associated with the social sciences However as a phenomenon that provides windows into possibly new forms of oppression and at the same time paths toward human liberation a systematic theological look at contemporary migration is long overdue Building on the emerging interest on migration in theology this book presents an intercultural theology of migration drawn from the experience of Filipino women domestic workers in Hong Kong in dialogue with theological ethics and liberationist theologies The result is a new look at the phenomenon of contemporary migration

Let Ministry Teach Robert L. Kinast, 1996 Relating theology to the practice of ministry is one of the most elusive goals in pastoral training Drawing upon seventeen years of experience in theology Doctor Kinast describes a step by step approach to help students and experienced ministers learn what their ministry teaches Through examples practical suggestions and principles grounded in process theology readers of Let Ministry Teach explore the full range of resources needed for meaningful theological reflection Let Ministry Teach strikes a clear balance between a very broad and detailed presentation of a theological reflection method so that it is neither too simplistic nor too hard to handle Each chapter describes a fundamental step in the method with the help of an illustration and commentary Chapters conclude with a list of practical suggestions and a short description of the theoretical background and its main points The challenge of theological reflection is to keep theology in the authentic experience of God's presence in our midst Let Ministry Teach places this reflection in context in a small group where it works best as a meaningful experience one that has an impact and initiates discussion as a faith theological perspective reflecting on experience from many points of view as a practical outcome where a person is in a better position to guide events according to one's beliefs and as a continuous process a skill which must be practiced In Let Ministry Teach Doctor Kinast develops a successful way of doing theological reflection which includes selecting an experience focusing on the meaningful moments describing an experience making it available for reflection entering an experience learning what it has to teach learning from an experience grasping what it teaches by relating it to what a person already knows and what the experience suggests is yet to be learned and enacting the learning incorporating the learning into a pattern of living and theological reflection The true basis of theological reflection a full deep meaningful embrace of life is learned from one's own experience Respectful of the full range of theological resources available for reflection and mindful of the primary goal of recognizing God's presence and responding to it theological reflection weaves experience and theology together into a way of life that continues the journey begun when Jesus first appeared Let Ministry Teach is offered as a companion for those on that journey Robert L Kinast a pastoral theologian specializes in the field of theological reflection Through the publications and services of the Center for Theological Reflection Indian Rocks Beach Florida he contributes to the ministry training programs of many denominations in the United States and Canada He is the author of the Vatican II Act II series and Mirror Meditations Praying with the Images of Vatican II published by Liturgical Press Biblical and Theological Reflections on The Challenge of Peace John Pawlikowski, Donald Senior, 1984 *Aids to reflection.
